ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO STOW BOMBS ON MUNITION STEAMERS

Startling Charges Made By Providence Journal Concerning Plot

CROWLEY SERIOUSLY INVOLVED, SAYS PAPER

Dried Fruit Cases Used To Hide Infernal Machines,
It Claim

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 2.—Continuing its revelations of alleged anti-patriotic plottings, the Providence Journal today declares that there has been laid before the department of justice startling evidence in the case of C. C. Crowley, held as an anti-bomb plotter at San Francisco.

The Journal publishes a letter purported to have been sent by Crowley to the American wife of Russian ambassador, Bakmeteff, at Washington, asking her to aid him in getting cases of dried fruit aboard steamers bound from Tacoma to Vladivostok.

The Journal claims that Madam Bakmeteff ignored the appeal, suspecting mischief. The Journal intimates that the dried fruit cases really contained bombs.

The paper charges that German Consul Bopp at San Francisco received $400,000 for the furtherance of the destruction of wharves, steamers and munitions at San Francisco and Seattle.

Addresses Jury

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—District Attorney Wood today addressed the federal court jury which is trying the Hamburg-American line officers on a charge of shipping German navy munitions under false manifests. He branded the defendants as "whispering patriots." Defense lawyers said that no law had been violated and that the defendants merely acted patriotically.

Confesses Hocus-Pocus

CLEVELAND, Dec. 2.—E. W. Ritter, a chemist, today confessed that he had received $500 for making an affidavit that the Lusitania carried 600 tons of loosely packed gun cotton when she sailed on her fatal voyage.

Austrian Consul Ernest Ludwig admitted paying Ritter for "services and expenses" but denied paying for the affidavit.

The statement concerning the affidavit has been forwarded to Washington.

Ritter said that he had made the affidavit in the presence of Baron Zwiendneck, the Austrian ambassador.

Threats at Tacoma

TACOMA, Dec. 2.—More anonymous letters, threatening the destruction of Japanese liners loading war materials, were received today. The Milwaukee wharves have been wired for electric lights and chemical arms fighting apparatus has been installed.

Railroad officials received a letter threatening the destruction of Seattle's waterfront and the city's fire tugs.

CROWLEY SILENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—C. C. Crowley, in custody on a charge of anti-patriotic plotting, today refused to comment on the Providence Journal's new charges.

MEXICO REFUGEES ARRIVE IN U. S.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Dec. 2.—Fifteen El Tigre refugees arrived here today safely. Their trip was uneventful. Five additional refugees are due to arrive this afternoon.

Generals Obregon and Funston conferred regarding border conditions. Obregon told Funston that Villa is located in the mountains near Ures, 160 miles south of Naco.

A train load of Carranzistas has arrived from Nogales to relieve Agua Prieta. A second train load is scheduled to arrive this afternoon.

SCHMIDT ALIAS IS REVEALED AT TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—H. S. Wood, handwriting expert, testifying at the M. A. Schmidt trial today, identified the signature "Leonard" in all registers from all parts of the country as having been written by Schmidt. The prosecution alleges that Schmidt traveled under the name of Leonard. The expert also identified Schmidt's handwriting on a San Francisco hotel register near J. B. McNamara's.

FISHERMAN DROWNS

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 2.—William Pearson, a lobster fisherman, drowned today off the Long Point, San Clemente Island. When a skiff capsized, Captain S. C. Fosstrom swam three miles and landed safely.

Cloudy tonight and Friday. Southerly winds.

NEW YORK CITRUS REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Eight cars of oranges and two cars of lemons sold. Oranges 12 cents higher on solid. Oranges 15 to 25 cents lower. Averages, $2.13 to $2.95. Highest, Old Mission, $11.00 to $12.50. Lemons 25 cents higher. Averages, $3.50 to $3.92. Weather, snow. Temperature, 27.

Groves, Highways Magnets Luring Easterners Here

Five, Enchanted By Charms
Of County, Promise
To Locate

Veritably enchanted by the manifold charms of Orange county's orange, lemon and walnut groves and its miles of modern highways, five eastern people, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gillbank of 1918 North Broadway, declared before departing for their homes that they will return here as soon as practicable and establish homes.

The eastern visitors are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tracey of Canandaigua, N. Y., Miss Louise Hoffman of Rochester, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman of Winnepeg, Man.

They have been spending several months on the coast visiting the expositions.

"The extent of the walnut and citrus industries in this county has proved a revelation to me," said Hoffman, who is the proprietor of one of the largest groceries in Winnepeg.

"What has impressed me more than anything else is the miles of modern, improved highway. I cannot help but marvel at the great natural resources of this territory. I am convinced that Orange county has one of the greatest features of any county in the west and I shall certainly endeavor to return here as soon as I possibly can and establish my home."

Yesterday the party motored to Laguna Beach. They will return east via Salt Lake City and Denver within the next few days.

FOLSOM LIFER SAVES STATE THOUSANDS IN BILLS FOR PRINTING

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 2.—In Folsom prison there is a convict—a life-terminer—who is saving more money for the state than any other or employee. His name is R. R. Axtell and he is a printer.

According to C. L. Neumiller, head of the state board of prison directors, Axtell is saving the state thousands of dollars through his knowledge of printing.

Axtell formerly conducted a newspaper at Lodi, Cal. He killed a man under extreme provocation, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. His case, it is said, will soon be considered by the state prison board.

MORE THAN 100 PONIES READY FOR TIA JUANA COFFROTH ANNOUNCES

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 2.—James W. Coffroth, president of the Lower California Jockey Club, today announced that more than 100 horses are assured when the Tia Juana race course opens on New Year's day. Harry Morrissey of Kentucky, has accepted the position of official starter.

GIVE POLICE LAY-OFF

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 2.—A movement has been inaugurated to secure a day's rest each week for members of the local police department. They now work seven days each week.

Crowds Clamor for Food Rate Adjustment, Berlin Admits Officially Today

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—It is today officially admitted that crowds made demonstrations before the Reichstag, demanding a speedy settlement of questions affecting food prices and food distribution.

An inspired statement said: "Germany's enemies will again spread ridiculous reports of troubles and street riots and make insinuations which do not correspond with the truth."

"In Germany nobody understands how the allies, after their military failures and their diplomatic defeats, have not yet begun peace negotiations."

Johnson, Beveridge Named As Presidential Possibilities

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Chairman Perkins of the Progressive executive committee today declared that former President Roosevelt intends to remain a Progressive. He pointed to the fact that Roosevelt withdrew his name as a Republican candidate in Nebraska as indicating that Roosevelt does not intend to join the Republicans.

Perkins said that the Progressives are not worried regarding the Republican and Democratic campaign plans. Perkins named the following Progressive presidential possibilities: Roosevelt, Governor Johnson, Albert J. Beveridge and Charles Sumner Burd of Massachusetts.

Perkins asserted that the Progressive platform will be the "Nineteen Twelve Platform Brought Up-to-Date."

CLOTHES AFLAME AGED L. A. MAN NEAR DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—Awakening in a sea of flames that already had destroyed most of his house, A. Gardner, 67, his nightclothes afire, battled his way to the open air today and escaped with nothing more serious than a singed skin.

The aged man's bed was ablaze when he awakened. He seized an empty cracker box and threw it over his head to protect his nostrils from the smoke.

Then, unable to determine in what direction he was going, he groped blindly for freedom. After wandering in the dark, he plunged through a window. His cracker box oxygen helmet was flaming and his pajamas were almost burned from his body.

Gardner had lighted a faulty heater early in the evening and it had become overheated after he went to sleep.

BURNS TO DEATH

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 2.—John Maxwell, 55, was burned to death at his home, three miles south of Walsh station, last night. Relatives found his body in the ruins of the house.

ONLY PASSPORTS TO NEUTRALS U. S. EDICT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The State Department today announced that it would not issue passports for the Ford peace-ship party to enter the fighting nations. It is willing to issue passports to neutral nations only.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Henry Ford today said that the State Department will not interfere with his plans as his peace party only intends to visit neutrals. His secretary, Louis Lochner, admitted that Henry Ford will be unable to "get the men out of the trenches by Christmas."

41 HURT IN PIER SMASH

ALAMEDA, Dec. 2.—Mrs. Charles Stewart of Kansas City and her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Smith, and Leslie Manning, were injured today when the Southern Pacific ferry hit the pier head. A near panic was averted.

Reichstag probably will show that enemy rulers still blindly believe the stories of German starvation, economic prostration and similar illusions and that they as a result may interpret Germany's peace conditions as unreasonable and indicating weakness and war weariness.

It is indicated that the Socialists intend to request a definition of Germany's peace terms. The Berliner Tageblatt holds such a request to be proper. It states that the definition could not be interpreted as a confession of weakness in view of the strong military position which Germany holds.

Declaring the aim of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to be the representative of the business men of America in settling great national and world problems, Edward P. Trefz, field secretary of that organization, delivered a splendid hour's address at the banquet given by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at Elks' Hall last night.

His appeal was for the aid of business men in national affairs, that aid to be thinned not with selfishness but with real patriotism and a desire to be of service to the Stars and Stripes.

Over 150 men and women of Santa Ana sat down at the banquet table at 7 o'clock last night. Smilax and California holly berries and branches decorated the tables. An excellent repast, the mainstay of which was chicken pie, was served by the Dragon.

Fred Rafferty, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, called upon Assemblyman J. C. Burke for an address of welcome. The assemblyman briefly outlined some of the good things accomplished by the organized publicity bodies of the county.

"The United States Chamber of Commerce has had and is having a vital influence on the commercial life of the nation," said Fred Rafferty in introducing the speaker of the evening.

With good humor

With pointed reference to California's reputation as a booster of its own attractions, Trefz passed into the telling of two or three excellent stories. He quickly showed his ability to hold an audience, and throughout his address that feature stood out. He has skill and training as a public speaker, and his address was one of strength and dramatic power.

While Trefz's visit to the coast is primarily to secure new members for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, he is also visiting the chambers of commerce that are already members. That is how he happened to come to Santa Ana.

"We are trying to do for the nation what the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce is trying to do for Santa Ana," said he. "That national policies and big developments have been aided by just such organizations in Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy and other European countries was asserted."

He said that a few years ago attacks were made on big interests.

"The business men pay the bills," declared Trefz. "The pendulum swung back. The blows struck at the railroads were strong and painful. The fact that transportation is necessary. Without transportation your lands here would not be worth two and a half per cent of what they are now."

"We will admit that big business may not have always done exactly right, but it did great pioneer work for this country."

"Recently a man high in station in this state defamed Crocker, Flood, Huntington, and others who had to do with early railroading in this state. Why, they made California. They made it possible for us of today to be here."

"We need to exert more charity in considering big business."

Bridging Chasm

The speaker said the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is meant to bridge the chasm between big business and other interests in this nation. War gave the organization an opportunity for service. It drew up the bills that rehabilitated the American marine after the European war broke out. Without it Congress would have wasted three or four months in debate. The organization aided the President materially.

"The United States is not run on a budget system," said he. "There are fifty-five systems of bookkeeping at Washington. Certainly if God did not look after children, idiots and the United States we would have a harder time than we do."

He said that tinkering with the tariff, the favorite pastime of political parties in the past, is not a good thing for the people. The Chamber of Commerce is asking that the tariff be put on a scientific basis. European countries, some of them, know more of commercial conditions here than America does.

When war broke out this country had but six ships on the Atlantic coast flying the American flag. The war has made great changes in commercial conditions, and will end with lasting new conditions. For instance, Fresno had to call in men to aid in getting a big shipment of raisins ready for England, which hitherto got its raisins from Turkey. Even when the war closes, England will not buy raisins from Turkey.

"The greatest duty of this organization is to arouse the business men of the nation to their obligations of unselfish service to the nation," said Trefz.

"We must remember always that we are Americans, that we are citizens of this country, and we must aid in solving its problems. We business men have been so busy with busness that we have forgotten our duty to the nation."

According to the information given by Carl Edgar, Watts bumped two automobiles between Galivan and San Juan Capistrano. Edgar drives a jitney between El Toro and Santa Ana for A. A. Avery. Last night he was towing another machine to San Juan Capistrano. He says that Watts was travelling forty-five miles an hour, recklessly taking more than his share of the road. A cap was taken off of the machine in front, in which Constable Jack Combs of San Juan Capistrano was riding with Edgar, and a cap was also taken off of the machine that was in tow.

Watts was arrested at Irvine by Motorcycle Officer Davenport who was sent out by Sheriff Jackson on receiving information by telephone from Oceanside of the accident there. The Packard, driven by Watts, has the front fender smashed and the caps on two wheels on one side showing damage.

Taken to Jail

Watts was taken to jail, and this morning Edgar swore to a complaint charging him with driving while intoxicated.

Donald Preston of Oceanside, who was in the machine with Watts, was also taken to jail. Watts says that he picked Preston up at Oceanside. Preston recently took civil service examinations for a position in Manila, and was on his way to start for Manila when he happened to get acquainted with Watts at a garage at Oceanside.

"I was in a hurry," said Watts, "because Ray Queta has been very sick. There was a machine ahead of me on the road this side of Oceanside a ways, and it was on the wrong side. I had to swing clear off the paved road, and when I went back on I merely touched the other machine. It is a surprise to me that it was wrecked. I did not know it was wrecked until after the officer stopped me."

"As to the machines this side of San Juan Capistrano they came over a rise toward me, and I just bumped them a bit as we went by, but one wouldn't think anything of that as the highway is so narrow."

Watts pleaded not guilty to the charge of driving an auto while he was intoxicated, and Justice Cox set his trial for Dec. 22. Watts said he would have a Los Angeles attorney appear for him. He gave his address as 1414 West Tenth street, Los Angeles. His bail was fixed at $100 cash. About noon today, Mrs. Watts arrived from Los Angeles, and went out to try to raise the bail for her husband.

Buggy Rammed; Three Men Thrown Out

Struck by an automobile on the Santa Ana-Newport Beach highway, three men riding in a buggy were last night violently thrown into the ditch alongside the road but escaped without injury. The men were Andrew Laird, caretaker at the San Joaquin Gun Club, Walter Bullett, who lives at the club, and Harry Young, of Los Angeles.

The accident occurred at about 7 o'clock near Thurin. Laird was driving toward Newport Beach. He carried, according to his own statement, a lantern at the rear of his vehicle. The automobile, driven by A. R. Lott of Newport Beach, was also traveling toward the beach at a moderate rate of speed, it is stated.

When the auto struck the buggy the vehicle was hurled from the road and overturned, the three occupants being thrown out. The men sustained only a few bruises.

The buggy was considerably damaged. The horse was uninjured.

Lott's automobile came out of the collision with a bent front axle and slight damage to the fender.

Lott agreed to settle for whatever damage had been done Laird's buggy.

The business man has not been paying proper attention to national affairs. They must have an adequate conception of their position."

Trefz told of a conversation that he had with President Wilson, under whom he studied at college, in which Trefz told the President that while the intent of the laws in the business man's behalf were good, they did not work out practically.

"The fault is ours," said Trefz, "for we have not exercised our rights of co-operation. In our nation business does not exert as much power as agricultural interests or labor, because the business man always asks: 'What do I get out of it?' He must from now on do something for the nation unselfishly. He must sit down on an evening and study and think over the nation's problems.

"This nation cannot keep out of the readjustment of the world following the war. Two million men have been killed. Think of the maimed. Think of the ruined homes and desolated cities. But those are not the worst, the most awful thing in this war."

Dramatically, Trefz pictured the effects of war upon the minds and spirits of the people of the nations engaged. Some who worshipped at the altar now creep to it to spit upon the crucifix and curse because of the things that war has done and is doing.

The Greatest Damage

"It is this terrible poison and hatred that is the most terrible thing," said he. "After the war, great hordes of those people will come to this country. They will fight for their country, but they will not stay and help pay for the war. The life they are leading, develops among the soldiers a spirit of adventure, and the plains of America appeal to them. Here open sores will be healed. Civilization has been woefully hurt by this war, and this country is to be involved in the healing of the wounds. It is up to the business men to help solve these problems. We must talk nationalisms, not provincialisms.

"We hear of hyphenated Americans. I am the son of a German emigrant, but I never thought it necessary to telegraph the President of my loyalty. The prefix to the word American should be wiped out, or the individual who wears it should go back across the Atlantic.

"We know that a Melba gets $1000 for a song, and a poor woman in the sweat shops gets only seven cents for making a shirt. We cannot by law guarantee a change in the standard of genius, but we can do our best to keep the opportunity open.

"Here where you are spending $2 to $1 in the East for schools, you are doing a more patriotic duty than are those who bear arms.

"In everything, throughout our work, let us be strong in our Americanism."

"I wish to add just one thought," said Fred Rucery in concluding the gathering, "and that is that we must not lose sight of charity. The fundamental cause of the war is efficiency run wild without charity to hold it in check."

When the Board of Supervisors meets next week it may take up for consideration steps toward making an appropriation for continuing the exposition at San Diego through 1916. The matter has not yet come before the board. Recently when the supervisors were attending the meeting of the California Development Board at San Diego the suggestion was made that this county add something to the fund that has been raised for the continuance of the exposition, and also maintain its publicity department throughout the year.

While the matter has not been discussed at the open meetings of the board, it is known that some of the members of the board doubt if anything should be done. This attitude may not be due to any lack of desire to aid in the project, but because of the fact that the Board of Supervisors has made no appropriation for the exposition. The tax levy was carefully studied out last August, at which time there seemed to be no expectation of continuing the fair at San Diego. The county board has planned its expenditures for the year, and may not be able to take money from other funds and turn it to the exposition without finding itself short in some other department of the county's business.

PLAY TAG ABOUT DEAD MEN IN CHAMPAGNE

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN CHAMPAGNE, Oct. 25 (By Mail)—

"How can they stand it? I should think the soldiers living with death and the dead about them all the time would go insane. One frequently hears that. The answer is easy. The men very quickly get used to it all. Take this example.

As our party returned to the motors today at sundown, after walking over the Champagne battlefield, two carts pushed quickly past us. On a canvas stretcher beneath the horse-shoe axle of each, lay a soldier, fully clothed.

Strangely Careless

"Wounded?" someone asked. "Yes," said an officer and changed the subject. But the soldiers pushing the carts were strangely careless with the wounded men. They walked rapidly and took no pains to keep the wheels out of the smaller shell-holes. The forms rocked and pitched and swayed. The odd attitude of one of them fascinated me, he was on his back, his arms crossed before, but not touching his face nor touching each other. With every lurch of the cart his arms waved about rigidly and stuck just where they were.

A second man accompanied each vehicle and these two were "kidding" each other. The first threw a clod at the second and the second replied by flinging his metal helmet at the first. There was a burst of laughter and as the carts stopped to permit the pushers to mop their perspiring brows, the two youngsters—they were about 20—began to chase each other round and round the stretchers.

Horrible

Meantime we drew up to the little procession. The soldier still lay with his arms crossed as though warding off a blow. The soldiers on the stretchers of course, were dead; killed the night before in the front trenches and now under cover of the twilight haze, a mixture of purple vapors and cannon smoke, their four fellows were taking the bodies to one of the new Champagne cemeteries at the rear, lifting the torn cap from the face of the soldier with the crossed arms, one asked in a hushed voice: "How did it happen?"

"Stray bullet," the cart-pusher responded laconically. "Whew! It's pretty warm today!"

The stiff armed soldier's death had been instantaneous. He stiffened as he had fallen, his arms before his face. He had been a very young man. A small mustache, flaxen light, was on his upper lip. The cap was replaced and we went our way, leaving the living and dead go theirs.

Now don't misunderstand. These four men escorting their dead comrades to the graveyard were not unfeeling nor pitiless in the ordinary sense. Taken from refined homes probably, where the sight of pain hurt them deeply; and from an environment where the presence of the dead was depressing and awesome, they were suddenly plunged into war and slaughter and agony and death until their senses were deadened. Their power of appreciation had been nullified. Dead men no longer awed them, blood no longer sickened them.

Nature, which makes them fight and mutilate and kill each other, had furnished its own antidote; otherwise these men, instead of "kidding" each other would have been gibbering idiots.

Nerves Shattered

One man—his wife and little girl live in Paris—after serving through the Battle of Champagne, had to be sent to a special hospital. He was not wounded. His nerves had been shattered, his mental balance upset. His brain had not been able to read just itself. Nature had let him go on weighing and appreciating all the horror about him.

The other condition is the only possible safeguard against insanity. It is the War God's own anesthetic.

NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO PUT IN AN Ideal Gas Furnace

SPLENDID SERMON IS PREACHED BY THE EVANGELIST

Banquet For Boys and Young Men Is to Be Held Saturday Evening This Week

The companion sermon to the one preached Tuesday evening by Evangelist Price, proved to be just as convincing and effective last night as the one on the previous evening. On Tuesday evening the real theme was "The Law of God," last evening the theme was "The Love of God."

By the use of many apt illustrations and the choicest and most lucid language the evangelist presented this wonderful theme in a manner that compelled the attention of even the most indifferent and brought an immediate response from the scores when the request was made for those who wished to right their lives to indicate their desire.

That essential doctrine of the orthodox churches, The Atonement, was present in so clear and simple and convincing a way that there could be no difficulty for anyone to understand it. It formed a compelling and effective close for the great address.

While the crowd was just a trifle smaller than the throng that filled the building on the previous evening, there were a great many, easily the majority, who are not usually found in the churches. While as the evangelist said in his opening address, the series is primarily for the church people, yet the fact that so many who do not often attend is decisive evidence of the increasing interest that is being stirred up throughout the entire community by the meetings.

A pleasing innovation was made last evening when the orchestra of thirty pieces played during the taking of the offering. This organization tion directed by Prof. Hayes is acquiring a very acceptable degree of ability and bids fair to become one of the prominent musical organizations of this section of the state.

Mr. Gulce, the director of the music, is regaining his voice and his solos are more pleasing each evening. He sings simply and without effort, but with remarkable effect.

The banquet for the boys and young men that had been planned for Friday evening has been changed to Saturday evening instead. It will be held in the basement of the United Presbyterian church and plans are being made for 300. All older boys between 15 and 21 are invited to this banquet. Church affiliation is not required. There will be no charge for the supper. The only requirement is that any one of the ministers be notified by Saturday morning of any individual or group that is intending to be present.

Special music by the big choir, by the orchestra and by Mr. Gulce is being arranged for the meeting this evening. The subject was not announced last evening owing to the change in the arrangements of the young men's supper.

J. N. ANDERSON ASKED TO EXPRESS SENTIMENT AT END OF EXPOSITION

President Woodrow Wilson's toast to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition follows:

"The Panama-Pacific International Exposition—

"Which in its conception and successful accomplishment gave striking evidence of the practical genius and artistic taste of America;

"Which in its interesting and unusual exhibits afforded impressive illustration of the development of the arts of peace; and

"Which in its motive and object was eloquent of the new spirit which is to unite East and West and make all the world partners in the common enterprises of progress and humanity."

J. N. Anderson of Santa Ana, who recently resigned as state senator from this district, has been asked by C. C. Moore, president of the San Francisco exposition, to express a sentiment in response to the toast of President Wilson, which will be read at the closing exercises at the exposition on December 4. The Santa Ana's reply follows:

Mr. Charles C. Moore, President Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, Cal.

Dear Mr. Moore: Replying to your favor of the 22nd inst., I am much pleased to join in the universal sentiment to be expressed on the closing of our international exposition December 4.

The idea is an excellent one. The marvelous success of the exposition and this unique closing ceremony will go far towards promoting the brotherhood of nations.

California in particular and the world in general owe you an expression of commendation and appreciation for your able management of and untiring attentions to the affairs of the exposition.

After the official visit of the members of the Legislature, I returned to the grounds on the adjournment of the session for a more thorough inspection of the various national exhibits when I was deeply impressed with the benefits that would necessarily result from the intermingling of the nations of the world on a common and peaceful ground and am much pleased to know that the President will propose the timely toast, that the rest of us may express ourselves in response.

Sincerely Yours,
JOHN N. ANDERSON.

USE BOTTLES AS GRAVE MARKERS IN CHAMPAGNE

(By William Philip Simms.)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN CHAMPAGNE, Oct. 24.—(By Mail.)—Cleaning up a battlefield is a whooping big job. The Battle of Champagne began a month ago and several regiments are still trying to make it presentable.

This battlefield, which will be known in future text-books as in many ways unique, is 15 miles long and three miles wide, running east and west. As the French advanced they faced the Germans at its southern edge of it, their trenches, cut in chalk white as curds, being 50 to 200 yards apart.

Vast Preparations

Two months before their drive the French began to accumulate ammunition; mass artillery, dig trenches, built narrow and standard-gauge railways; wide, well-graded rock-and-gravel highways and other things of the sort.

September 22 the French artillery turned loose a hell's fury of shells. A German officer's letter, interrupted by death, said the shelling resembled the collapse of a world. Practically every square yard of this 45 square miles of chalky ground was tossed into the air by explosives. White as a sepulchre, it is hard to believe that ever again will man be able to make his home amid these fields.

Death Hail

For three days the French poured melinite and chedite into the Germans' barbed-wire entanglements, steel turrets, machine guns, armored trenches, secret traps, hidden defenses, invisible wire coils with cutting edges, centers of resistance, fortified woods and what not.

The Germans, their food supply cut off because supply trains could not approach, huddled at the bottom of their bomb-shelters, 20 feet under the ground, while their trenches were blown to nothing. Some companies lost half their men during the bombardment alone. Underground ammunition stores exploded; shelters were ripped up as though they were roofed with paper instead of yards of stone and earth. The world never saw such shell fire.

French Charge

At 9:15 a. m., on the 25th the French infantry charged, and at 9:15 and a half the house-cleaning began. As the attackers entered what was left of the German first line trenches, the cleaning began with the bayoneting all remaining Germans who offered resistance and making prisoners of those who surrendered. Then the dead were thrown out and the position turned around for a possible counter-attack.

The dead Germans were buried in their own trenches. I have heard that 20,000 to 25,000 bodies were thus disposed of, while bodies at the bottom of cave-ins, under destroyed bomb-shelters and in like places were left in the graves of their own choosing.

New Cemeteries

Brand new cemeteries were made for the French who fell. The new graves are curious. There being no time to place crosses or head stones to mark the graves, a wine bottle, with name and matriculation number corked inside, is stuck neck down in the middle of each new mound. In cases where identification was impossible, the dead are buried in a common grave with some such mark as this serving for all:

"Here lie the bodies of 27 French soldiers who died for their country."

The dead removed, the cleaning-up continues. Broken transports, shattered wheels, splintered planks, clothing, German and French helmets, ammunition, guns, swords, books, shoes, revolvers and numberless other odds and ends, including arms and legs lie promiscuously about on the churned-up earth. These all must be disposed of.

Sanitary War

This is a sanitary war. If there have been no plagues it is because the cleaning-up has been thorough. All this gruesome collection is disposed of hygienically. Useable material is parked and sent to the rear; guns are stacked in orderly piles, according to make; bayonets and scabbards and swords and head-gear and all the rest, ditto. The stuff is listed and shipped and receipts and way-bills are all properly made out and signed and sealed.

Then the advancing army settles down in its new home. It had made a fairly comfortable place during the months of waiting, but all this has been left behind, and a new start is made. The former quarters of German officers and men are transformed, with much scouring and refurbishing and disinfecting, into quarters for the French officers and men.

Today the battlefield of Champagne is comparatively clean. But one still occasionally stumps one's toe against something or other very unpleasant.

U. S. GOLD IMPORTS MAKE GIANT GAINS AS RESULT OF WAR

DAYLIGHT BANDITS MAKE $2000 HAUL

SEATTLE, Dec. 2.—Daylight bandits today robbed the R. B. West jewelry store on First avenue and got $2000 worth of diamonds, while scores passed the doors. They bound and gagged the clerk, H. F. Andrews. The first bandit, entering the store poorly dressed, asked to look at a watch and chains. While Andrews was getting the chains the second bandit entered. He was well dressed. He asked to see some alarm clocks. When Andrews fetched the clocks the second bandit drew a gun and said: "We mean business. If you move, we will blow your brains out." He then told his partner to "get busy."

After binding the clerk the couple strolled out, passing within fifty feet of a policeman.

'CORPSE' SHRIEKS WHEN CORONER COMES NEAR

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—The dead arose again early today and wailed dimly at the prospect of being interred.

The "dead" was Ygnacio Espinosa, a Mexican of uncertain address, who was found by another Mexican lying in the Los Angeles riverbed near Seventh street.

Espinosa, to all appearances, was dead. So the discoverer of him hurried to the police station and notified police. The police told the coroner, who told the undertaker. The latter dispatched an automobile to the scene. The police sent an officer to investigate.

The undertaker arrived and lifted Espinosa to place him in the wicker basket. Espinosa opened an eye, gazed at the basket and shrieked. The police arrived at that time and arrested Espinosa on a charge of being dead—drunk.

PARTISANSHIP OUT OF PLACE

Mr. Edward M. Trefz is Field Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Last evening he delivered an address before the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce. In the course of his remarks he said the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is trying to do nationally just what the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce are trying to do locally. But whoever heard of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce sending out a field secretary to make rankly partisan political speeches and sling slurs at the leaders of the opposition?

It isn't a question of which side Mr. Trefz is on; it is a question of good taste and a square deal. Mr. Trefz was invited to come to Santa Ana (probably at his own suggestion) to instruct and enthuse and inspire us in the work of promoting the material and moral welfare of the community through organized, united effort; to analyze the factors and solve the problems of such work; to expound its ethics. Instead of doing that, instead of urging harmony and non-partisanship—a cardinal principle of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, of the great Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, of all successful commercial bodies—Mr. Trefz violated the most sacred canons of hospitality and subjected his hosts (the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce) to suspicion and criticism, by indulging in didactic, egotistical, patronizing partisanship on the biggest of national issues, and the one on which men most widely and violently differ.

However, a more important question than that of good taste and square dealing, with respect to the local Chamber of Commerce, is involved in this matter. That question is, What does the Chamber of Commerce of the United States stand for? Is it a non-partisan commercial organization, designed to serve as a clearing house for local organizations of similar nature, devoted to the social and economic welfare of the nation along scientific lines, or is it an organization whose purpose and propaganda consist in the defense and advocacy of the alleged rights of big business in contra-distinction to the alleged rights of the producing and laboring classes? If it is the former, it had better call off or tone down Mr. Trefz. If it is the latter, it is fortunate in securing so able an advocate and defender as Mr. Trefz. No one will deny the right of the business interests of the country to organize a national chamber of commerce, and through that organization to propound such political doctrines as they feel justified in propounding. No one will deny that there is important work for such an organization to do. But let it not sail under false colors, or send out speakers who will abuse the confidence reposed in them.

It may, perhaps, be thought that we have discussed this matter with a candor that borders on bluntness, but if so we can point with pride to Mr. Trefz, himself, as a shining example. And if there are those who feel that our criticism is uncalled for, we ask them in all candor how they would have regarded the action of Albert J. Beveridge, for instance, if he had been invited here to speak on chamber of commerce work and had seized the opportunity to make a strongly partisan Progressive speech!

Aside from its partisanship, Mr. Trefz's speech was one of exceptional merit. He is unquestionably a man of far above average ability, and he presented with forceful logic some big thoughts, worthy to be pondered in the hearts of men.

YOU'RE LOOKING FINE

"By George, old man, you're looking fine!"

Did you ever notice how you perk up, no matter how poorly you were feeling before, when some friend greets you in that way?

According to Dr. S. R. McKelvey, secretary of the Colorado State Board of Health, the human system just naturally begins to tone up under the stimulus of such greetings.

He declares it's an aid to health and a help in preventing disease and to that end he advocates a new movement—a "tell your friends how well they look" movement.

"It's not only bad taste to talk of your pains and ailments," says Dr. McKelvey, "but it is a reflection on your intelligence and knowledge of health, sanitation and good health. We are not far from the time when the cause of illness will have to be accounted for personally."

"In other words, nature is no longer going to be blamed for sickness when it is simply the result of ignorance, indifference or wrong ways of living."

Don't you think it worth giving Dr. McKelvey's idea a try?

We do! So here goes:

"By George, you're looking fine."

RURAL CREDITS

President Wilson is again urging Congressmen to establish a Rural Credits system, and the agricultural sections are demanding action. Whatever any of us may do to secure national Rural Credits should be done.

It is, of course, possible that illusory hopes have been held out to the farmers of the low interest rates to be secured under a Rural Credits organization. The fact that European farmers borrow money for 3 to 4 per cent in this way does not prove that the same thing can be done here. Interest rates and labor have always been low abroad. The machinery for such an organization would cost more in this country of higher salaries. And the American investor gets a higher rate on his money.

Still the American farmer is assessed too high a rate for his borrowings. Lending companies make too much money. Their service as intermediary is necessary to give the borrower security that the property is duly examined and supervised. But many little companies are doing this business on too small a scale for economical results. Their charge for their service is too high.

The average lender on farm mortgages probably gets about 6 per cent. If the business were standardized, supervised, and consolidated, so that a farm loan would look as good as a railroad bond, the lender might be satisfied with 5 per cent. The borrower would have to pay at actual cost for the intermediary service of the Rural Credits organization, and it is not likely that he will pay less than 3 per cent for his money.

Some of the farmers, particularly in the East, may get their loans now for 5 per cent. But the chances are that the majority pay 7 to 8 per cent, including commissions and discounts. This is too much. If this rate could be lowered by Rural Credits organizations, young men would be encouraged to take up farming, and thus one charge on food production would be reduced.

PHOSPHATE RESERVE

A grave problem for the farmer is to discover the needs of his depleted or unfavorably proportioned soil. Its greatest need may be phosphoric acid, one of the three substances that are most necessary in maintaining fertility, the other two being nitrogen and potash. Phosphoric acid for use in fertilizers has been supplied for many years in part by the phosphates of Florida and Tennessee and from islands in the Pacific ocean. These deposits can not always supply the demand, and therefore the recent discovery that the Rocky mountains contain the largest known area of phosphate rock in the world is of vital interest to future generations, if not to the present one.

Albert Richter claims to be the original discoverer of the western phosphate deposits, because he recognized rock phosphate in Cache county, Utah, in 1889 and located claims on it. These phosphate deposits are said to have been independently discovered in 1897 by R. A. Didecock in Rich county, Utah, in old diggings in black rock that he mistook for gold prospects. A large sample analyzed in 1899, however, proved to be high-grade phosphate rock. In 1908, on recommendation of the Geological Survey, the Secretary of the Interior withdrew from entry 4,500,000 acres of public land in Idaho, Utah, and Wyoming, believed to be valuable for phosphate, and this phosphate withdrawal was continued by the President under the act of June 25, 1910. In 1909 and succeeding years these phosphate deposits were systematically examined by the United States Geological Survey, and in 1910 phosphate rock was discovered in Montana, near Melrose, by Geologist H. S. Gale. On January 1, 1915, the total area of phosphate lands in Montana, Utah, Wyoming, and Idaho withdrawn from entry was 2,713,155 acres. This phosphate reserve is larger than any similar area in the United States; it is, indeed, the largest area of phosphate rock yet recognized in the world. (United States Geological Survey.)

What Is American Music?

One of the Metropolitan daily papers recently commented in an editorial on the fact that Europe had never been interested in American music, in fact did not know there was any. The article recalled a Fourth of July spent in Dresden. All winter there had been delightful concerts of classical music, in a combination restaurant and music hall which overlooked the River Elbe. In honor of our great national holiday and the many Americans in Dresden, it was announced that the evening of the Fourth of July would be entirely devoted to American music.

There was a great gathering that night, and our flag was very much in evidence. There was a spirit of bonhomie camaraderie among all our compatriots, and crowded in among them were many Germans eager to hear real American music.

All arose as they played the American National air. A strong chorus began to sing: "Oh say can you see," but few knew the rest of the words. Then we settled back for some home music. There were no programs, but all thought of course they would recognize their old favorites. The orchestra had been playing some time and there were puzzled expressions on many faces, a questioning of "What is that they are playing?" Nobody knew. Then regardless of the fact that they were playing it like a Beethoven Symphony, suddenly there was a combination of some harmony, that made someone exclaim: "Why, that's the 'Honey-suckle and the Bee'."

Something rebelled at the idea that we Americans who hear and love the best class of music, who pay the highest prices for operatic stars, or concert singers and instrumentalists, should be content to allow any other Nationality to think that was American music. We have our type of American music that belongs to America and its people, just as other nations have their folk songs. But if we are invited to an evening of German music, we do not expect to hear only "Oh du lieber Augustin" or "Tannenbaum," nor is "Oh Sola mi" the only kind of Italian music. We love these old songs just as we love our negro melodies.

The "rag-time" with its syncopated time and swing, has condensed in it much of the restless verve, and strenuous characteristics of the American spirit. But it only represents a type.

Until comparatively recently it was only the rich American who could hear any kind of good music. It was something that went with money. The consequence was the embryo musical genius had little chance to develop. The youth of America, the masses, knew little of good music. In this hard work-a-day world there was little chance for the musical soul even to peep out.

But the time is coming when the term American music will not be synonymous with "Get Out and Get Under" and "All Dressed Up and No Place to Go." Times are changing. Anybody who sat in Madison Square Garden or Hippodrome in New York last winter and heard the Working People's Concert and saw the rapt attention with which that vast assembly listened to the Wagner and Tchaikowsky music, would realize that the American public is hungry for something beside rag-time. The only pity is that so many have to go hungry, as was testified to by the thousands turned away from those concerts.

Why? Modesto Herald

Sunday night at the intersection of Tenth and I streets, two assemblages were listening to messages delivered by two different speakers. On the one side the Salvation Army with song and prayer was giving out the story of love of humanity to the hearers, endeavoring by soft words of exhortation to lead the listeners into the paths of peace and of love for all mankind.

On the other side stood an I. W. W. agitator, vigorously preaching the doctrine of hate, of the destruction of the foundations of the social fabric—man against man, brother against brother.

Which speaker and which message secured the greater attention? The message of love fell on the ears of but a few. The audience of the agitator blocked the street.

BARON SHIBUSAWA IS HONORED IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Since his arrival here Tuesday, Baron Shibusawa has been the honored guest at an almost continuous round of receptions, luncheons and dinners. The baron was scheduled to be the guest of bankers at a luncheon this afternoon, and tonight the Japan society will give a dinner for him, at which Ambassador Chinda will be present.

Some of the most distinguished men in the city paid a tribute to the Japanese financier last night at a dinner in his honor at the Lotus club.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in a complimentary speech, described Baron Shibusawa as a high-minded, patriotic man, devoted to the best interests of his country.

Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, said that America desires the friendship of Japan if for no other reason than its pecuniary advantage.

MISSIONARY MEETING

United Presbyterian Ladies Hear of the Punjab In Their Program

The missionary society of the United Presbyterian Church held a very interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in the church parlors with a goodly attendance of ladies present. The devotional service was led by Mrs. C. G. Ramsey.

The subject for the afternoon was "The Church of Christ in the Punjab," and the program leader was Mrs. W. W. Hoy. Miss Roseline Kellogg gave a most excellent paper on "The Past, Present and Future of the Punjab," and Mrs. S. H. Finley gave a character sketch of some of the missionaries. Mrs. McAuley read a good paper on "The Native Workers," and Mrs. Hoy gave a very interesting talk on India. Mrs. Hoy lived for some time in that country and was able to give a very interesting account of the people, and she has a fine lot of specimens brought from India and some beautiful embroidered silk and drawn work.

Among the specimens of work done by the natives is a carved screen made from teak wood, also beautiful lacquer work, brass and silver work. The ladies spent some time inspecting the specimens.

The society had recently had its thank offering, which amounted to $288.20 and also a life membership.

The new program, which will be ready by the first of the year, was discussed and a few changes from last year will be made and the new study taken up.

Woman's Civics Club

The regular meeting of the Woman's Civics Club will be held in the council room at the city hall, Saturday, December 4, at 2:30 o'clock.

E. M. Nealley will deliver an address on the subject, "Some Recent Educational Experiments," and the Gary Plan at Gary, Indiana.

A cordial invitation is extended to every one interested in educational work and civic betterment.

A special invitation is also extended to teachers and members of the Parent-Teacher Associations.

Martha Washington Club

Mrs. S. E. Deck was hostess yesterday afternoon to the Martha Washington Club at her home on Garfield street. The home was bright with roses and the members spent an enjoyable time with chat and needlework of various descriptions.

Late in the afternoon, Mrs. Deck served her guests with delectable refreshments. Those present being: Mrs. Charles Schmiedelberg, C. E. Jasper, O. B. Alderman, E. S. Curtis, G. E. Peters and George Beckman.

Tustin Bazaar

The aid society of the Tustin Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar and supper tomorrow afternoon and evening, December 3, in the basement rooms of the school house. In the afternoon at the bazaar there will be a display of useful articles, fancy work, dressed dolls and candy.

At five o'clock supper will begin to be served. The people in Tustin are well acquainted with the suppers which the Ladies' Aid Society serves.

THE NETHERLANDS

Interesting Country Described To Economics Class By Mrs. Kan

Mrs. J. Dick Wilson of 530 South Birch street, opened her charming home to the Second Section of the Household Economics classes yesterday afternoon.

As the members arrived they were cheerfully greeted by Mrs. Carl Strock and Miss Katharine Edwards, who assisted Mrs. Wilson in planning and carrying out the afternoon's program. And an interesting program it was, too, having for its subject "The Netherlands," described and pictured most delightfully by Mrs. Otto Kan, who has spent most of her life in Utrecht, and is therefore well qualified to portray the life and customs of the "Land of Dikes and Windmills."

Standing fair and tall among the eagerly listening members, Mrs. Kan described the domestic and social life of the Holland women. She told of their extreme neatness, their industry and thrift; of their pleasant home life, more serene than ours in America, because less given to pleasure seeking outside of it. Their society functions were likened to our own, though they are more cultural in character, perhaps, through the nation's love for good music, and its frequent expression. The religion of the little kingdom is more conservative than ours, and its ministers are not "called" by their congregations, but are appointed through governmental authority. The school system differs widely from that in vogue with us, in that the courses taken through grammar and high school are not elective, and are mainly solid subjects. Nor is there any social life whatever in the schools, other than a literary society and an entertainment perhaps once a year.

In Holland there is both a distinction and a difference between a country home and a "farm house;" the difference exists in the structural features of the buildings; while the distinction lies in the class of the dwellers therein. The former is usually a beautiful home outside the city, and occupied by a family of the middle or upper class. The latter shelters the family of the peasant farmer, and possibly his cows and chickens, too!

Mrs. Kan displayed during the course of her talk a perfectly fascinating collection of quaint silver pieces, shining brass utensils, rare Delft ware and Rosenberg pottery, besides two gorgeous bed covers, every perfect stitch of which had been patiently and skillfully done by hand. Linens were exhibited that called forth exclamations of delight, and bits of curious bric-a-brac that well might have caused envy in many a heart.

Following the program came a volley of questions, answered fully by Mrs. Kan, and then typical Holland afternoon tea was served, accompanied by thin slices of rye bread, spread with cream cheese, and crispy plum tarts.

Altogether it was a delightful afternoon—the pretty home, the gracious hostess, the fascinating lecturer with her quaint foreign expressions, the animated members of the class, and the social informality of it all created an ensemble not readily forgotten by those fortunate enough to be participants in the pleasant affair.

Improvements at Day Nursery
The Ebell Day Nursery has been renovated and put in fine condition for the winter season. The exterior has been treated to a fresh coat of brown paint, doors and windows have been re-screened and the two flights of steps at the rear of the cottage replaced with new ones. Perhaps no improvement made on the premises.

will be more enjoyed by Mrs. Jones, the matron of the Nursery, and the kiddies under her charge than the broad step which has been placed at the top of the steps to the front porch. This will break the fall of any venturesome tot who try to walk down the steps without being sure of their footing.

Woman's Club at Beach

Mrs. F. A. Marks and Mrs. Annie Gale were hostesses on Tuesday last at the former's cottage at West Newport, the occasion being an outing of the Woman's Club members. About thirty were present to enjoy the ideal day, making the trip by electric car and automobile.

As Christmas time is approaching, the members utilized the time making pretty articles of various kinds.

At noon a sumptuous dinner was served at a la cafeteria, the savory eatables being spread on small tables.

Spent Delightful Afternoon

The monthly social tea of the Daughters of Veterans was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Ward and Miss Edith Ward. There was a large attendance of members and four special guests, who were candidates of the order.

At the close of the afternoon, Mrs. Ward, assisted by her daughters, Miss Edith Ward and Mrs. Leonard, served delicious refreshments of hot rolls, chicken pates, cranberry salad, pickled nuts, pumpkin pie, coffee, salted nuts in pretty little hand-crocheted baskets.

The home was prettily decorated with lovely roses.

Hostess to Anaheim Club

Mrs. Richard Cribaro of South Van Ness avenue was hostess yesterday afternoon to the Anaheim East Side Thimble Club. Mrs. Cribaro and her mother, Mrs. G. E. Bruns, were formerly members of the club.

Holly and Christmas bells gave the room a festive appearance and the time passed pleasantly with needlework and jolly chat.

Mrs. S. J. Evans was the guest of the club.

Before the guests departed, a dainty collation was served by the hostess.

The club will meet next time with Mrs. W. B. Lee at Anaheim. Those present yesterday were: Mesdames E. Tucker, O. W. Clark, W. B. Lee, J. K. Langdon, E. Cook, J. O'Donnell, C. Taullus, A. L. Walcott, L. Dahlman, L. L. Bruns and daughter Helen, E. E. Bruns, G. E. Bruns, Miss Cole, Mrs. S. J. Evans.

Early Morning Nuptials

The German Lutheran Church of this city was the scene of an interesting wedding yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, when Miss Anna Bargsten became the charming bride of Frank Buchheim, Rev. E. J. Rudnick officiating.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white crepe, with flowing veil and carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and ferns.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Dora Bargsten, who made a pretty contrast in her gown of pink silk with bouquet of pink carnations. Carl Buchheim was the best man.

Following the ceremony, an elaborate wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's uncle, J. Bargsten at Orange.

The table was decorated with pink roses, the guests being relatives and close friends of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Buchheim left on the 4 o'clock train for San Diego and upon their return will reside on the groom's ranch on East Seventeenth street.

FATHER'D RATHER HIS SON BE IN JAIL THAN BAILED BY BARKEEPS

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 2.—"I would rather have my boy stay in jail than be bailed out by a saloon-keeper," said H. J. Anderson, father of William Anderson, aged 19, when told that his son, arrested for disturbing the peace while intoxicated was released from jail on bail furnished by George Radonich and Jim Duffie, saloonkeepers.

Radonich told Anderson he should thank him for getting his son out of jail. "I don't thank you," was the father's reply. "It would be better for my boy had he remained in jail."

TOPPING UMBRELLA TREES

Today Albert Lenk, gardener at the court house, is topping several umbrella trees in the court house grounds. On the advice of County Horticultural Commissioner Bishop, the trunks and branches remaining are to be sprayed to kill the red spider, with which the trees have been infested. The red spider caused leaves of the trees to drop off.

SUICIDE VERDICT

The coroner's jury summoned yesterday to inquire into the cause of the death of C. T. Jones, the Berkeley real estate man, returned a verdict of death from a pistol shot wound inflicted with suicidal intent. Those on the jury were Tarver Montgomery, H. D. Kennedy, George Barnett, P. E. Newman, B. C. Powell and E. D. Rogers.

STRONG AND WELL AS EVER

Fred Smith, 325 Main St., Green Bay, Wis., says: "I suffered a long time with a very weak back. Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me of all soreness and pain and I now am strong and well as ever." Winter aggravates symptoms of kidney trouble; cold weather makes aching joints, sore muscles, and irregular bladder action more unbearable. Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys eliminate pain-causing poisons.—Rowley Drug Company—Advertisement.

Important Notice To All Gas Consumers

On December 1st, 1915, the new Rules of the Railroad Commission of California governing the practices of gas companies throughout the State, go into effect.

This Company intends to make every effort to comply with the Commission's Rules fully and without discrimination. We therefore publish below the important points which we shall observe.

We particularly desire to impress our consumers with the idea that any inconvenience or annoyance which may result to them is due entirely to our desire to follow the Commission's Rules fully and without discrimination.

We have copies of the complete rules on file in all our offices, and we shall be glad to show them to all who may inquire.

I.

After November 30th, 1915, we will require no deposit from an applicant for gas service:

- (1) Who owns the premises where he desires service.
- (2) Who furnishes a responsible guarantor for the payment of his bills.
- (3) Who can show that he has paid all his bills to any branch of the Southern Counties Gas Company promptly during the twelve months ending December 1st, 1915.

II.

Hereafter we will require a cash deposit from any applicant for service who does not comply with either of the three conditions in paragraph I.

The amount of this deposit shall be $2.50 from applicants for residence or domestic service. From other than applicants for domestic service, the deposit shall be twice the average estimated periodic bill. We will pay interest at 6 per cent a year on all guarantee deposits held for twelve months or longer.

III.

Beginning December 1st, 1915, we will, upon surrender of the proper receipt, return meter deposits in full to all consumers who qualify under paragraph I hereof, and who have paid all indebtedness to the Company. From those consumers who do not own the premises, or do not furnish a guarantor or have not paid their gas bills promptly for twelve months, we will retain $2.50 of the deposit and issue a new receipt.

IV.

If any consumer fails to pay his bill on or before the 10th of the month, following that in which the gas was used, we shall send him a notice that unless he pays his bill within five days we will require a deposit to guarantee future bills. We shall at the same time serve notice that unless the bill is paid within five days or a deposit made within fifteen days the supply of gas will be discontinued.

V.

If a consumer disputes the correctness of a bill which we claim is correct, we will require him to deposit the amount of the disputed bill with the Railroad Commission. The Commission will investigate the facts of the disputed bill and their findings shall be binding upon both parties. If the deposit is not made within fifteen days from the date of our request, the supply of gas shall be discontinued.

VI.

If the consumer who has made a deposit fails to pay his gas bill on or before the 10th of the month, we shall apply whatever part of his deposit is necessary to the liquidation of the unpaid bills. If it is necessary to use the entire deposit for the liquidation of the unpaid bills, we will require that the deposit be restored to its original amount within fifteen days or the supply of gas shall be discontinued.

BUILD DEFENSE TRACK ROUND U. S. PLAN

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 1.—A defensive railroad built around the rim of the United States, about which thousands of coast defense guns could chase and ward off the combined navies of the world, is the skeleton of a preparedness plan just submitted to War Secretary Garrison by George L. Campbell of this city.

Campbell says this would be such adequate defense for New York, San Francisco, our other coast cities and coasts generally that we would not need much of a standing army nor much of a navy. He adds that the Belt Line Defense System would be

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health Is Worth Saving, and Some Santa Ana People Know How to Save It

Many Santa Ana people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Santa Ana citizen's recommendation:

Martin O'Meara, 518 East First St., Santa Ana, says: "I have never used anything for kidney trouble as satisfactory as Doan's Kidney Pills. I had that complaint for a long time. The kidney secretions pained in passage and I had to void them during the night. Whenever I use Doan's Kidney Pills, my back gets stronger and the trouble with the secretions is removed."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. O'Meara had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

economic because freight and passenger traffic would pay for the road in peace time.

Coasts Vulnerable
"The vulnerability of this country to attack lies in its unprotected Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts. A navy large enough to defend such a coast line involves expenditure sure to arouse antagonism in a people unused to considering sacrifices involved in protection against the menace of modern warfare."

Military
"To protect these coasts by fortifications of the usual type is impossible. An intermediate course could be followed whereby we could hold the combined fleets of the world at bay without the expense of building a navy and with practically no expenditure for the usual permanent type of coast fortifications."

"I would suggest that a standard gauge, double track, military railroad be built around our coasts; that each standard gauge track be further gauged on the outside for special trucks for mounting mobile heavy defense guns."

"In peace time such a road could earn its own maintenance. Standard engines, in war time, could move long trains of the wide gun trucks rapidly to any part of these coasts and standard trains could follow with troops, machine guns and the like. Thus we could employ thousands of guns against an attacking fleet's hundreds. Coast cities like New York would be lifted from their present defencelessness."

BUSINESS IS ON THE UPGRADE, SAYS EXPERT

LOS ANGELES.—"Prosperity is coming, and you can't keep it away," in the opinion of F. H. Storms, prominent official of the Babson Statistical organization, who recently addressed students at the University of Southern California. Mr. Storms has just returned from a tour of South America, in which he made a careful study of conditions there.

"As a result of our carefully compiled statistics in hundreds of lines of industry, we know that the law of action and reaction applies to the business life of a nation," said Mr. Storms. "There are periods of expansion and depression which follow major cycles of five years, and which can be studied, and charted. The intelligent business man can study these cycles, and by buying and selling accordingly, avoid disaster. If this were gone, there would be no decided fluctuations in the market any more."

SAN MARINIAN'S LEGATION HAS DISAPPEARED

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—(By Mail).—A Washington cablegram today instructed Ambassador Gerard to take over the diplomatic affairs, documents and property of the tiny Italian republic of San Marino, geographically the smallest republic in the world. The country covers only a few square miles, has but 20,000 inhabitants and possesses guns which cannot be used in target practice because they overshoot the borders in all directions.

Nevertheless, San Marino has declared war on Germany and Mr. Gerard is its Berlin representative. The only trouble is that he can't find anything with which to do the representing. As representative in Berlin of England, Japan and other enemies of Germany, Mr. Gerard has taken over their enormous embassies and voluminous documents. He has tried and tried to find the San Marino legation. He can't find a thing. He said he might advise Washington that the legation is mislaid or that, if San Marino ever had a legation or anything else in Berlin, somebody has walked away with it.

KNOCKOUT PUNCH IN ARMIES OF JOFFRE OR?

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN CHAMPAGNE, Oct. 23. (By Mail).—Can either the French or German armies now face to face along the western front, produce a knockout punch? Doubtless the punch is possible but the more one sees of the present fighting line the more he is impressed with the extreme difficulties of the thing.

Not an officer or man here but is firmly convinced that sooner or later the Allies will smash through the German lines to open country beyond. The Champagne drive proves that the blow must be one of the mightiest wallops that ever set the globe atremble. Some months ago a general remarked:

Effort Be Costly

"We can break through any time, but the effort would be costly and we must make sure it will be worth the price." The French have just broken the enemy's front and reached German reserve lines. The advance was a prodigy of valor after a miracle of preparation; and the gain, fifteen miles long and three miles deep was worth the price because it proved that the allies' task is not hopeless.

The battle of Champagne was the first fought with perfected trenches—a condition peculiar to this war. Until last November fighting was in the open, but when the armies dug themselves in it was grenade throwing, trench-mortar bomb-firing and an occasional bayonet charge.

First Great Battle

The Champagne battle was the first great general battle after both sides had turned their positions into veritable forts. It will go down in history as one of the world's most important fights. It is estimated that more than a million men were engaged. Such a herculean effort being necessary for either side's considerable advance, and Germany's task of defending a Russian front, a Balkan front, and a western front, makes it impossible for Germany to produce the punch necessary for victory, the French say.

The way from Paris to the fighting front is a series of perfected trenches. To advance, the Germans must storm these trenches one by one. Their capture would be possible only after a cyclonic downpour of explosives. It is said so many shells would be necessary that Germany's output would be taxed to supply this one front.

Inspection
For three days I have walked the Champagne battlefield, inspecting what were the German positions. Germany's preparations were marvelous. Trenches criss-crossed the plains, machine guns were everywhere, steel turrets with rapid-fire cannon reinforced already strong positions. Barbed wire underbrushed the forests, and beyond every trench were entanglements to catch the advancing French unaware. All sorts of mantrapping traps were set, one being a trick trench from first to second line. Having lured the French into this the Germans disappear down an unsuspected offshoot and a hidden machine-gun mows down the French. The one antidote for this is a terrific cannonade which literally turns the whole fighting front, for miles in both directions and miles back of the first lines, into a shambles from which nothing can escape. The guns must mow down forests, level trenches, blow up turrets and smash entanglements.

Good Job of It

The French in Champagne did a good job of it. For three days they rained a million shells a day into this area. Effective fire of French field pieces is about four and a half miles and over that much front they made it so hot for the Germans that a German officer declared they were so helpless under the rain of steel there was nothing to do but to crouch under the crumbling shelters and wait for death.

Like the French, the Germans have many reserve lines of trenches, but the French consider that they have taken the Germans' measure now and that to advance they have only to repeat the Champagne dose. This, they admit, takes time. On the other hand they say they have the time and that the Germans have not; also they can concentrate their efforts while the Germans are compelled to spread theirs over a wide area.

You won't find a single officer out here who will claim that the battle of Champagne, as big and important as it undoubtedly was, will directly affect the end of the war. But he does claim emphatically, that the battle is like a signpost pointing the way to the end, and that by similar thrusts here and there, the wall across the road will crumble one day and behind it will be only the open highway and victory.

ACT SIMPLY IS GEN. GALLIENI'S BIG SLOGAN

BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Nov. 3 (By Mail).—Energetic simplicity is the dominating characteristic of General Gallieni, France's new minister of war; and he gave a good example of it on September 3, 1914, when he found himself suddenly entrusted with the defense of Paris upon that crucial day.

The government had fled to Bordeaux before the onrush of the Teutonic hordes. Gallieni must defend the city. He felt that his first duty was to tell the Parisians of the situation before them. He summoned a famous historian on his staff to prepare the proclamation. What the historian wrote, had it ever been published, probably would have gone down as a notable literary contribution to the war.

Thanks Historian

Gallieni glanced at the long, high sounding phrases, thanked the historian, handed him his page and picked up a pen, wrote:

"To the Inhabitants and the Army of Paris: The members of the government of the Republic have left Paris to give a new impulse to the national defense. I have received the order to defend Paris against the invader. That order I will carry out to the very end—Gallieni." That phrase, "to the very end"—jusqu'au bout, put heart into the Parisians. It is the most famous phrase the war has given France.

A short time later Gallieni commandeered all the taxicabs in Paris and rushed 29,000 troops in them to the Marne, right at the time and place to change impending defeat into victory.

From the Colonies

Gallieni is a product of the French colonies. Much has been said against the French colonial policy, but these colonies have produced some of the most brilliant French generals of the present war. In addition to Gallieni there is Joffre, Roques and Gouraud. In Madagascar the simple Gallieni developed his military, organizing and administrative ability. "Leave with each person the impression that he has created that which he has executed," was the foundation principle of his success there. He is unlike the modern general who makes himself feared, in that he makes himself loved.

As minister of war, Gallieni has an advantage in his profound knowledge of Germany. Years ago he saw the German world movement and equipped himself to cope with the present situation, which he in part foresaw.

Literary Ability

Gallieni also has both literary ambition and ability. At St. Cyr he frequented only the literary cafes, particularly the haunts of Alphonse Daudet. He once told Gabriele D'Annunzio that had he not been a soldier he would have been a man of letters. Really, he is both. Among his writings are: "Two Campaigns in the French Sudan," "Three Columns at Tonkin," "The Pacification of Madagascar," and "Nine Years in Madagascar."

Gallieni believes in France and the French, a belief based on the study of his and other people. He sees but one grave defect in his countrymen, which he thus characterizes:

"Every time something does not go right, it is not because the French are not intelligent, but because they do not know how to do it and often do not want to make use of their intelligence."

Gallieni has said that as minister of war he will seek to lead the French to make use of their intelligence.

papers of citizenship. Their foreman went to the courthouse with them, and was very frank in saying that the men were taking out their citizenship papers to save their jobs.

The three men are Ignacio Montero,
32, native of Mexico, here since 1906;
Rafael Cardenas, 28, native of Mexico, here since 1906, and Michale Zu-nino, 27, native of Italy, here since 1914. Each gave Irvine as his residence.

Laurie Maapa, 19, a butcher of

ACIDS IN STOMACH SOUR THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Fixes Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is sour on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspep-tic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes.
"Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless;
tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and ridge yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.—Advertisement.

him guilty and sentenced him to 100 days in the county jail. Mrs. Camila Morena, who was also prosecuted for selling liquor near the Anaheim sugar factory, escaped without conviction.

Another Complaint

C. E. Holmes has sworn to a complaint charging C. L. Chamberlain with forgery. The check accepted by Holmes is almost exactly like the one that caused R. H. Sutton to swear to a complaint against Chamberlain.
Each is for $15.75, each is drawn on the Farmers' & Merchants' National Bank, each is made out to C. L. Chamberlain and each has the name E.
Salters signed to it.

One Sentenced

Richard Brown and George Lane, accused of burglarizing Roy Smith's house at San Juan Capistrano, could not be held on that charge, the evidence being insufficient. Brown, however, was prosecuted for carrying a revolver, which he said he found, and was given sixty days in jail. Lane is charged with vagrancy. Constable Combs of the mission town made the complaints.

TO PLACE AUTO SIGNS
ON FULLERTON STREETS

FULLERTON, Dec. 2.—The city trustees met Monday. A letter was read from the Auto Club of Southern California stating that they were about to put up substantial signs on all roads, and asking permission to place such signs in Fullerton where needed. The proposition was accepted and the street committee instructed to co-operate with the club in the placing of signs.

W. F. Brown, park commissioner, reported that the work done by Tennant, the street superintendent, was most satisfactory, and that the cost was probably less than if it had been done by contract or other hired labor.
The semi-circular place for the sunken garden has been completely cleared of debris, plowed, harrowed and roughly graded in a little less than two weeks. This work involved the breaking up of a quantity of old concrete walls.

The question of the fire department making runs to outside towns was next discussed. Mr. Hiltcher, on the fire committee, stated that he had told Fire Chief Clever not to call up the committee at night, but to use his own judgment, so long as he left a number of men and a sufficient quantity of hose in town for emergencies.
The chief said that he would do so,
and that the department expected the arrival of more hose any day. Without definite action, it was understood that outside towns should pay the fire boys for their work, when called out. The chief made complaint as to the small extinguishers, and the city clerk was instructed to communicate with the Seagrave Company and have them replaced.

It was decided to amend the ordinance as to the stopping points of jitney buses, and place it in the hands of the marshal.

'BOWL THE WOLF' NEW MINNESOTA PASTIME

Wolf hunting by motor car is a new pastime in Minnesota as a result of an accidental killing of a wolf by a motorist who was driving from Argyle to Warren after dark. F. J. Shreck, owner of the car, so easily was successful that the sport in the wolf country is bound to become popular where wolves are not desirable. The wolf came out of the brush a short distance ahead of the car. The electric headlight seemed to bewilder the beast so that it kept to the road.

After a half-mile chase the car hit the wolf and bowled it over. Mr. Shreck was traveling 45 miles an hour at the time.

Every football eye in Southern California is being turned toward Washington Park, Los Angeles, where, Saturday afternoon, will be staged, for the first time in ten years, a game in which an eastern team takes part, the contest being between Occidental College and Syracuse University.

Santa Ana fans are taking an especial interest in the coming battle for the reason that "Shorty" Smith, who has made good with a vengeance at halfback, and "Bill" Warren, who, as sub-center, has made an excellent reputation for himself with the Oxy team, both are local boys. Art ("Battle") Shipke, the 202-pound Occidental tackle, hails from Orange, another reason why local football enthusiasts are taking more than ordinary interest in the coming gridiron melee.

Class A Attraction

The contest is certain to be of the Class A variety. Record crowds are expected and Santa Ana will send a representative contingent of rooters to aid in cheering the Occidental lads on to victory.

Fans are speculating in regard to the outcome of the game. The consensus of opinion seems to be that the Syracuse squad has an edge on the California men. They are heavier and come from a district where football is more of a business than it is in many other sections.

Still, say the fans here, you never can tell. Which is not exactly original, but true, nevertheless. That 52 to 0 victory which Occidental smeared all over the Pomona's the other day, leads many to believe that the Syracuse battlers will run up against a pretty hard proposition.

Stars

McClung, Occidental captain, is playing his last year of college ball. He is easily conceded to be the greatest half-back in California.

Captain Rose of Syracuse is considered a fast and dangerous man, while Wilkinson, the other half-back on the eastern team, is considered to be one of the greatest backs in the east.

Occidental will go on the field Saturday outwheeled on the average of 18 points to the man. Syracuse averages 189 and the Tigers 171.

"Shorty" Smith's gridiron career up to the present time has been somewhat in the nature of a phenomena. The plucky Tiger half-back started with the local high school and never succeeded in doing anything to cause either coach or fan to exude sobs of joy and commendation.

Then "Shorty" went away to college. It was then that he began to make the higher-ups begin to sit up and take notice.

He began to show stamina, quick-thinking and an unbounded ability to run interference. It was but a short time until he won a position on the regular Tiger team.

Shipke, of Orange, showed the football instinct from the time he began to don his headgear for the Citrus High School. When he went to college he did what all the local fans were certain he would do, make good, with a vim.

Saturday's game at Washington Park will be the football event of the year in Southern California.

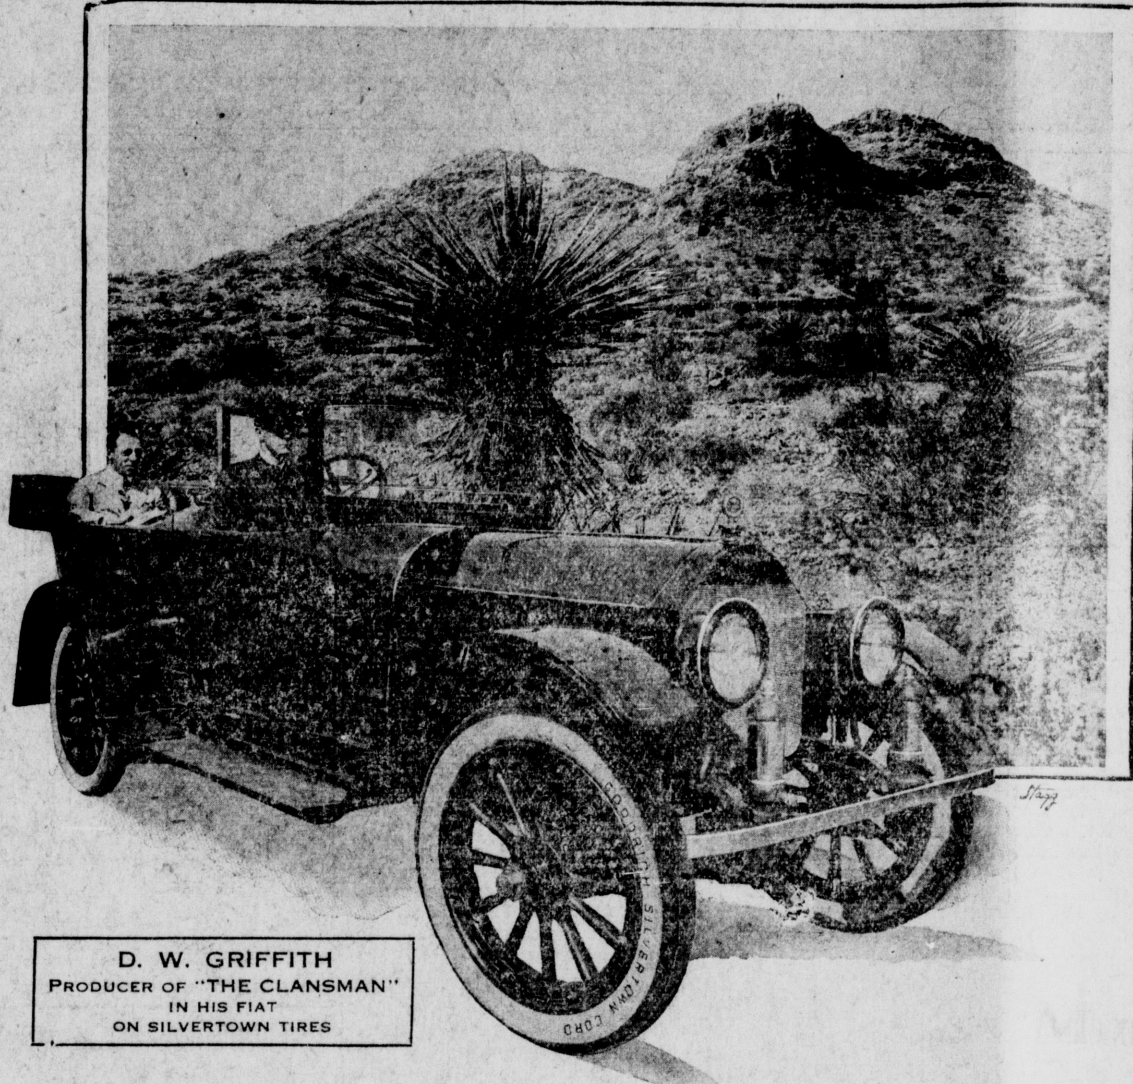

WOULD-BE MOTORBIKE RECORD HOLDER HAS WRECK AT IRVINE

Bernie Avrit failed to make the Los Angeles-San Diego motorcycle record yesterday morning. Crossing the railroad at Irvine, he broke both front rockers and lost his front wheel, landing in the ditch. He has no injuries except a scratched hand and a sprained wrist.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR DRUNK DRIVERS URGED

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Not only are Sundays dry in Chicago, following Mayor William Hale Thompson's order prohibiting the sale of liquor on the first day of the week, but for local motorists there will be no sused Mondays, puffed Tuesdays, inebriated Wednesdays, lit-up Thursdays, red-nosed Fridays and stewed Saturdays without a jail penalty if the drastic recommendations of the Citizens' Traffic Association, which will be relayed to the state legislature for consideration at its special session by Governor Edward F. Dunne, is favorably acted upon.

ONE of the most enthusiastic motorists in Southern California is D. W. Griffith who became famous in a day by his tremendously successful film production, "The Clansman." Mr. Griffith has recently purchased the most expensive Fiat touring car which could be secured, costing $6000. He insisted upon the car being equipped with the last word in tires; namely the Safety Tread Silvertowns.

GOLFERS MEET REDLANDS ON LOCAL GREENS

Golf fans are looking forward with pleasure to the next team match which is to be played on the Orange County Country Club course between the locals and Redlands. Last Saturday the Redlands team defeated the local golfers by four matches to one. The Orange men hope to turn the tables Saturday by playing over their home course.

Those who will meet Redlands Saturday are C. G. Twist, A. C. Twist, F. B. Browning, George B. Shattuck and Lee Collins. The same team, with the exception of Shattuck, whose place will be taken by J. W. Tubbs, will go to Riverside Sunday for a team match there.

STYLE IN TIRES AS WELL AS MOTOR CARS

"It is easy to understand how automobiles are kept up-to-date, but as for tires, few stop to consider that their 'style' constantly changes too," said Jack Willy, manager of the Santa Ana Diamond control. "The important difference, however, is that 'style' in tires means service, more service and still more service. And the place where service is put into tires is not primarily in the factory but, strange as it may seem, on the road. That is the court of last resort for the tire maker, and every automobile owner who returns a worn casing to the factory has thereby become a judge of the value of present methods of tire manufacture. And the place where these judgments are collected from far and wide is the adjusting department of the Diamond factory."

"Go into the office of the head of the adjusting department and you will find tires in all conditions of wear and abuse. These are the pick of the lot, the choicest specimens of ruin, for they have told the adjuster that perhaps the manufacturing department may be able to forestall the injuries which which these tires have met."

'EVERY PASTOR OUGHT TO DRIVE CAR'—HOVIS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 2.—"Every church should provide its pastor with a modern motor car," declared the Rev. William Hovis in an address on "Pastoral Efficiency" before the conference of Methodist Episcopal churches in Milwaukee. "If John Wesley were to come here today, he would demand the best motor car that he could command to do his work efficiently," said Rev. Hovis. "In Milwaukee and other large cities, there are thousands of the unreachd and untouched upon whom the church has made no more impression than a minister going out on the curb whistling 'Yankee Doodle.' The reason is plain. The minister cannot reach his highest efficiency without modern means and methods. The motor car solves part of the problem by furnishing a means of quick transportation at a minimum of cost."

Meteoric Career of Creator of "Clansman" In Period of Nine Years

D. W. Griffith, nine years ago commenced work in motion pictures as an actor receiving $5 a day. Shortly afterward he directed the production of some scenarios for the Biograph Company and was so successful that he was retained as a director and remained with that company until three years ago, at which time he joined the forces of the Mutual Film Company, in Los Angeles, and just prior to the production of the Clansman he formed the company he still owns. Mr. Griffith's latest move in the motion picture world has been the formation with Ince and Sennett of the famous Triangle Corporation, which is the largest film corporation in the world, being capitalized for five million dollars. This company is owned by D. W. Griffith, Thomas H. Ince and the Keystone Company. The Griffith pictures in the Triangle Corporation will be known as "Fine Art Films."

Much of Mr. Griffith's success is attributed to the fact that he closely watches details and is always on the lookout for new ideas. He even goes as far as to search out the locations and his Silvertown equipped Fiat is very convenient in his work.

BUICK SIX IN LONG JOURNEY

Five thousand three hundred miles from New Jersey to California, with only three punctures to count against a perfect score, a Buick Six, in which were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sibley and daughter, Maxine, and son, Ernest, Jr., arrived here the other day, once more proving that when it comes to a machine to "deliver the goods" the Buick is "there" every time. As an indication of the smooth riding qualities of the Buick under all sorts of road conditions, New Jersey air was in one of the tires when the Buick rolled into Santa Ana. The Sibleys visited with Judge E. T. Langley, who is an uncle of Mrs. Sibley.

URGES TAKING FINGER PRINTS OF SPEEDERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Old offenders, who persist in driving their cars at an unlawful rate of speed in New York, must submit to having their finger prints taken as a means of identification, if the recommendation made by Chief Magistrate McAdoo is favorably acted upon. Although the maximum fines for speeding are being imposed, the practice of fast driving continues unabated.

FULLERTON IS WINNER OF 8 LAST GAMES

FULLERTON, Dec. 2.—The Montebello base ball team will motor here Sunday and try to stop the fast local team, which has not been beaten in the last eight straight games they have played. There will be much rivalry between certain players on both teams owing to the fact that three of the Fullerton boys formerly played with the Whittier team, and six of the Montebello players were with the Whittier team at the same time. Broadbent, Trippett and Hood are the Fullerton boys who played with Whittier last year. Al McLaughlin, who plays third base for the Montebello team, accompanied the Fullerton team to San Diego and played a very good game for Fullerton. Other well-known Montebello players are "Doc" Nagle, Don Haskell, E. McElroy and J. Briggs. They are out to take Fullerton's scalp and the Fullerton fans hope they will make the locals hustle.

TAG NO. 13 LOOKED ON AS TALISMAN BY SOME

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 2.—Thirteen has no terrors for Otto Starzinger of Des Moines. He has made a special request for that number from the Iowa motor department and it now adorns his machine. Starzinger says he had No. 1313 for 1915 when the car was stolen and almost immediately recovered. He said that the "13" combination was responsible for his good luck and doesn't wish to change. The new Iowa numbers are just being sent out. Will Michael, of Selma, is another Iowan not afraid of the hoodoo number. He has the promise of plate No. 1313. Plate No. 1 goes to John P. Mantary, of Fairfield, who has had the same number for several years. A. J. Graybill, of Yorkshire, gets No. 4; G. W. Beyer, of Grinnell, No. 11; and Allen E. Beck, of Mason City, No. 44, all by special request.

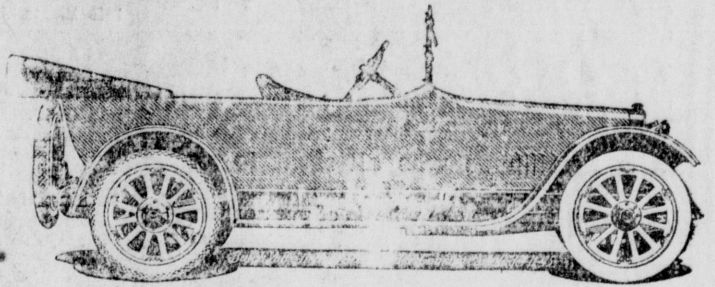

GEORGIA GAS DEALERS WILL BE PROSECUTED

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 2.—Between fifty and seventy-five retail and wholesale dealers in gasoline, located in several Georgia cities, are to be prosecuted by the state department of agriculture for violation of the state law which forbids the misbranding of gasoline as to its specific gravity. This law requires that all retailers shall post signs, showing the specific gravity, and it is understood that some of the prosecutions will be for failure to brand at all.

GERMANY MAKES MOTOR FUEL FROM POTATOES

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 2.—A report from Germany states that that country is making great use of its potatoes, of which there is a great surplus. One of the results is wood alcohol, with which motor cars are now largely driven.

The Flattery of Imitation

1916 Buick Six

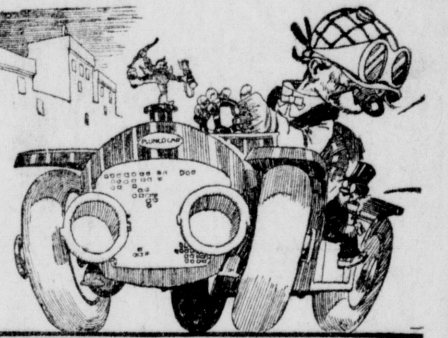

Without a doubt, imitation is the most sincere form of flattery. To have attained such value in the public eye that competition is satisfied to offer an imitation, is to succeed beyond the hopes of many.

In 1902 the first VALVE-IN-HEAD BUICK motor was produced. By its power and sturdiness it jumped into instant favor. During this, the 1916 season, the VALVE-IN-HEAD BUICK motor is still the chief feature of the BUICK line. BUICK success has brought many BUICK imitators. To attempt to equal with no ambition to exceed BUICK performance is the aim of many. Each year finds more and more manufacturers featuring the valve-in-head motor.

Without a doubt, imitation is the most sincere form of flattery.

FIRST PAPERS TAKEN OUT TO SAVE THE JOBS

Three Men Working On State Highway Start On Way To Naturalization

In order to retain employment on the state highway, three laborers who have been employed spreading surfacing rock on the state highway before Irvine have taken out their first papers of citizenship. Their foreman went to the courthouse with them, and was very frank in saying that the men were taking out their citizenship papers to save their jobs.

The three men are Ignacio Montero, 32, native of Mexico, here since 1906; Rafael Cardenas, 28, native of Mexico, here since 1906, and Michale Zunino, 27, native of Italy, here since 1914. Each gave Irvine as his residence.

Laurie Hampa, 19, a butcher of Orange, a native of Finland, here since 1905, has also taken out first papers.

Angus McAulay, an undertaker of Fullerton, born in Canada in 1876 and here since 1896, has filed his petition for final letters.

Is Found Guilty
Mrs. Jacinto Casanada, a Mexican woman, was found guilty of selling liquor at Delhi. She is to be sentenced tomorrow morning.

Today Judge West and a jury began the trial of Filimino Bustillos, a Delhi Mexican leader, for bootlegging. Attorneys A. J. Green and W. W. Davis are defending him, and Deputy District Attorney Keppel is prosecuting. The first twelve men drawn were accepted as jurors. They are S. W. Sutton, James Fenstermacher, Thomas Ash, D. G. Cole, George McNeill, Elias Wright, William Collar, E. N. Hopper, S. C. Hartranft, N. Travis, J. D. Price and S. W. Price.

ACIDS IN STOMACH SOUR THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapiesin" Fixes Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is sour on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent boxes of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapiesin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapiesin" cures, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.—Advertisement.

Sues On Insurance
Another Los Angeles county fire insurance company case has drifted to this county. Why the Los Angeles attorneys want them tried here does not appear. While several have been brought they have all been settled out of court. The newest is R. A. Shoshan against the Dubuque Fire & Marine Insurance Co., a suit for $1465.97 for alleged damage done a stock of shoes at 84 North Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena, on July 29, 1914.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT GIVEN 100 DAYS FOR SELLING OF LIQUOR

Second Complaint Charging Forgery Has Been Made Against Chamberlain

Luis Gonzales of Anaheim is the latest addition to the colony of blind piggers who are domiciled in the county jail. The evidence against Gonzales was such that Justice Cox found him guilty and sentenced him to 100 days in the county jail. Mrs. Camila Moreno, who was also prosecuted for selling liquor near the Anaheim sugar factory, escaped without conviction.

Another Complaint
C. E. Holmes has sworn to a complaint charging C. L. Chamberlain with forgery. The check accepted by Holmes is almost exactly like the one that caused R. H. Sutton to swear to a complaint against Chamberlain. Each is for $15.75, each is drawn on the Farmers & Merchants' National Bank, each is made out to C. L. Chamberlain and each has the name E. Salter signed to it.

One Sentenced
Richard Brown and George Lane, accused of burglarizing Roy Smith's house at San Juan Capistrano, could not be held on that charge, the evidence being insufficient. Brown, however, was prosecuted for carrying a revolver, which he said he found, and was given sixty days in jail. Lane is charged with vagrancy. Constable Combs of the mission town made the complaints.

TO PLACE AUTO SIGNS ON FULLERTON STREETS

FULLERTON, Dec. 2. The city trustees met Monday. A letter was read from the Auto Club of Southern California stating that they were about to put up substantial signs on all roads, and asking permission to place such signs in Fullerton, where needed. The proposition was accepted and the street committee instructed to co-operate with the club in the placing of signs.

W. T. Brown, park commissioner, reported that the work done by Tenmunt, the street superintendent, was most satisfactory, and that the cost was probably less than it had been done by contract or other hired labor. The semi-circular place for the sunken garden has been completely cleared of debris, plowed, harrowed and roughly graded in a little less than two weeks. This work involved the breaking up of a quantity of old concrete walls.

The question of the fire department making runs to outside towns was next discussed. Mr. Hiltcher, on the fire committee, stated that he had told Fire Chief Clever not to call up the committee at night, but to use his own judgment, so long as he left a number of men and a sufficient quantity of hose in town for emergencies. The chief stated that he would do so, and that the department expected the arrival of more hose any day. Without definite action, it was understood that outside towns should pay the fire boys for their work, when called out. The chief made complaint as to the small extinguishers, and the city clerk was instructed to communicate with the Seagrave Company and have them replaced.

It was decided to amend the ordinance as to the stopping points of jitney buses, and place it in the hands of the marshal.

DISCUSS ELEVATORS, GRAIN AT MEETING

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—General discussion of the grain and elevator questions and a address by former American Ambassador to France Myron T. Herrick on rural credit and farm finances generally, will close the National Marketing and Farm Credit conference which has been in session here since Monday.

'BOWL THE WOLF' NEW MINNESOTA PASTIME

Wolf hunting by motor car is a new pastime in Minnesota as a result of an accidental killing of a wolf by a motorist who was driving from Argyle to Warren after dark. F. J. Shreck, owner of the car, so easily was successful that the sport in the wolf country is bound to become popular where wolves are not desirable. The wolf came out of the brush a short distance ahead of the car. The electric headlights seemed to bewilder the beast so that it kept to the road. After a half-mile chase the car hit the wolf and bowled it over. Mr. Shreck was traveling 45 miles an hour at the time.

Every football eye in Southern California is being turned toward Washington Park, Los Angeles, where, Saturday afternoon, will be staged, for the first time in ten years, a game in which an eastern team takes part, the contest being between Occidental College and Syracuse University.

Santa Ana fans are taking an especial interest in the coming battle for the reason that "Shorty" Smith, who has made good with a vengeance at half-back, and "Bill" Warren, who, as sub-center, has made an excellent reputation for himself with the Oxy team, both are local boys. Art ("Battle") Shipke, the 202-pound Occidental tackle, hails from Orange, another reason why local football enthusiasts are taking more than ordinary interest in the coming gridiron melee.

Class A Attraction

The contest is certain to be of the Class A variety. Record crowds are expected and Santa Ana will send a representative contingent of rooters to aid in cheering the Occidental lads on to victory.

Fans are speculating in regard to the outcome of the game. The consensus of opinion seems to be that the Syracuse squad has an edge on the California men. They are heavier and come from a district where football is more of a business than it is in many other sections.

Still, say the fans here, you never can tell. Which is not exactly original, but true, nevertheless. That 52 to 0 victory which Occidental smeared all over the Pomonans the other day, leads many to believe that the Syracuse battlers will run up against a pretty hard proposition.

Stars

McClung, Occidental captain, is playing his last year of college ball. He is easily conceded to be the greatest half-back in California. Captain Rose of Syracuse is considered a fast and dangerous man, while Wilkinson, the other half-back on the eastern team, is considered to be one of the greatest backs in the east.

Occidental will go on the field Saturday outweighed on the average of 18 points to the man. Syracuse averages 189 and the Tigers 171.

"Shorty" Smith's gridiron career up to the present time has been somewhat in the nature of a phenomena. The plucky Tiger half-back started with the local high school and never succeeded in doing anything to cause either coach or fan to exude sobs of joy and commendation.

The Rise of Smith

Then "Shorty" went away to college. It was then that he began to make the higher-ups begin to sit up and take notice.

He began to show stamina, quick-thinking and an unbounded ability to run interference. It was but a short time until he won a position on the regular Tiger team.

Shipke, of Orange, showed the football instinct from the time he began to don his headgear for the Citrus High School. When he went to college he did what all the local fans were certain he would do, make good, with a vim.

Saturday's game at Washington Park will be the football event of the year in Southern California.

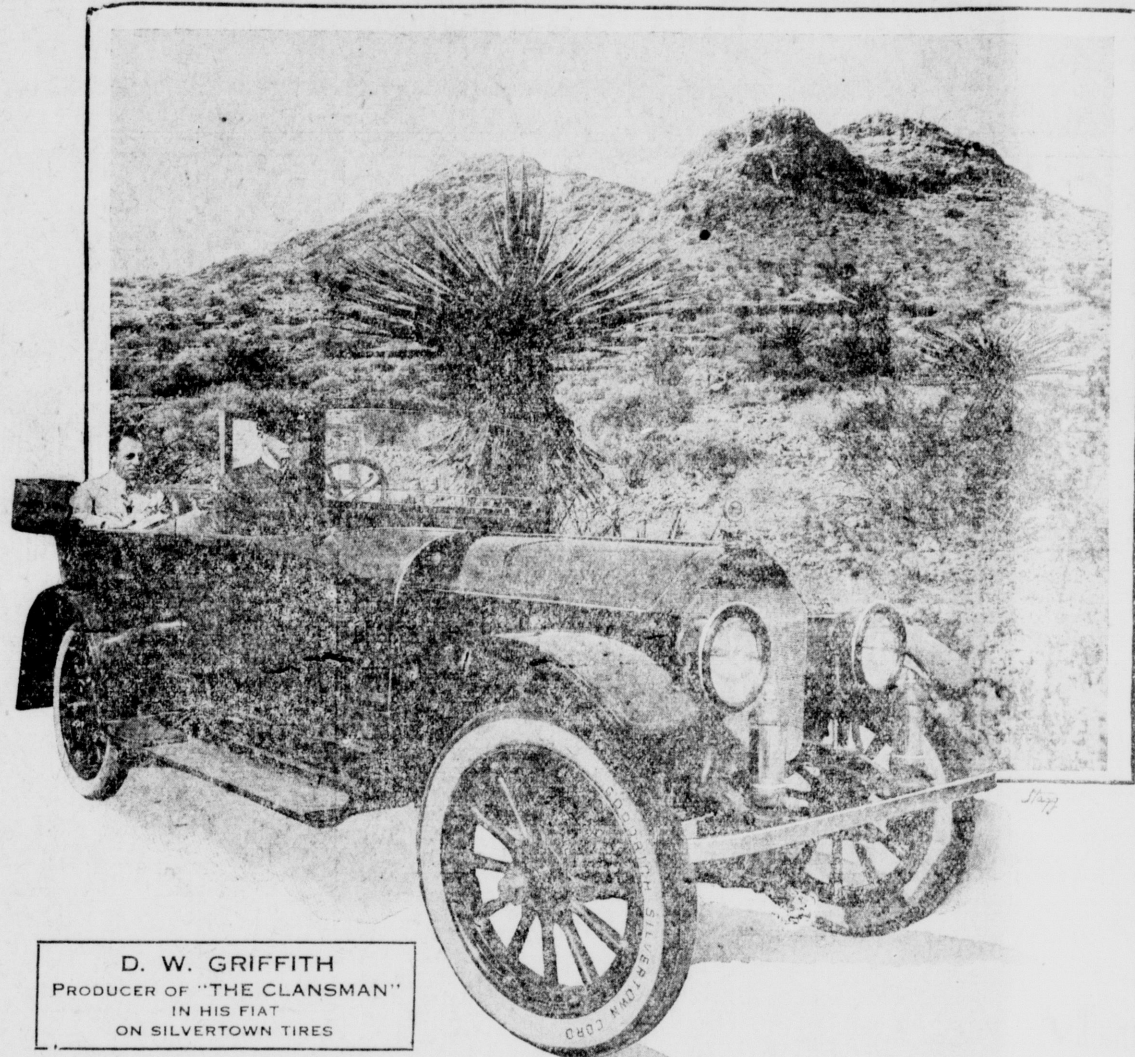

WOULD-BE MOTORBIKE RECORD HOLDER HAS WRECK AT IRVINE

Bernie Avritt failed to make the Los Angeles-San Diego motorcycle record yesterday morning. Crossing the railroad at Irvine, he broke both front rockers and lost his front wheel, landing in the ditch. He has no injuries except a scratched hand and a sprained wrist.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR DRUNK DRIVERS URGED

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Not only are Sundays dry in Chicago, following Mayor William Hale Thompson's order prohibiting the sale of liquor on the first day of the week, but for local motorists there will be no sours Mondays, puffed Tuesdays, inebriated Wednesdays, lit-up Thursdays, red-nosed Fridays and stewed Saturdays without a jail penalty if the drastic recommendations of the Citizens' Traffic Association, which will be relayed to the state legislature for consideration at its special session by Governor Edward F. Dunne, is favorably acted upon.

ONE of the most enthusiastic motorists in Southern California is D. W. Griffith who became famous in a day by his tremendously successful film production, "The Clansman." Mr. Griffith has recently purchased the most expensive Fiat touring car which could be secured, costing $6000. He insisted upon the car being equipped with the last word in tires; namely the Safety Tread Silvertowns.

GOLFERS MEET REDLANDS ON LOCAL GREENS

Golf fans are looking forward with pleasure to the next team match which is to be played on the Orange County Country Club course between the locals and Redlands. Last Saturday the Redlands team defeated the local golfers by four matches to one. The Orange men hope to turn the tables Saturday by playing over their home course.

Those who will meet Redlands Saturday are C. G. Twist, A. C. Twist, F. B. Browning, George B. Shattuck and Lee Collins. The same team, with the exception of Shattuck, whose place will be taken by J. W. Tubbs, will go to Riverside Sunday for a team match there.

"It is easy to understand how automobiles are kept up-to-date, but as for tires, few stop to consider that their 'style' constantly changes too," said Jack Willy, manager of the Santa Ana Diamond control. "The important difference, however, is that 'style' in tires means service, more service and still more service. And the place where service is put into tires is not primarily in the factory but, strange as it may seem, on the road. That is the court of last resort for the tire maker, and every automobile owner who returns a worn casing to the factory has thereby become a judge of the value of present methods of tire manufacture. And the place where these judgments are collected from far and wide is the adjusting department of the Diamond factory."

"Go into the office of the head of the adjusting department and you will find tires in all conditions of wear and abuse. These are the pick of the lot, the choicest specimens of ruin, for they have told the adjuster that perhaps the manufacturing department may be able to forestall the injuries which which these tires have met."

EVERY PASTOR OUGHT TO DRIVE CAR—HOVIS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 2.—"Every church should provide its pastor with a modern motor car," declared the Rev. William Hovis in an address on "Pastoral Efficiency" before the conference of Methodist Episcopal churches in Milwaukee. "If John Wesley were to come here today, he would demand the best motor car that he could command to do his work efficiently," said Rev. Hovis. "In Milwaukee and other large cities, there are thousands of the uneducated and untouched upon whom the church has made no more impression than a minister going out on the curb whistling 'Yankee Doodle.' The reason is plain. The minister cannot reach his highest efficiency without modern means and methods. The motor car solves part of the problem by furnishing a means of quick transportation at a minimum of cost."

Meteoric Career of Creator of "Clansman" In Period of Nine Years

D. W. Griffith, nine years ago commenced work in motion pictures as an actor receiving $5 a day. Shortly afterward he directed the production of some scenarios for the Biograph Company and was so successful that he was retained as a director and remained with that company until three years ago, at which time he joined the forces of the Mutual Film Company, in Los Angeles, and just prior to the production of the Clansman he formed the company he still owns. Mr. Griffith's latest move in the motion picture world has been the formation with Ince and Sennett of the famous Triangle Corporation, which is the largest film corporation in the world, being capitalized for five million dollars. This company is owned by D. W. Griffith, Thomas H. Ince and the Keystone Company. The Griffith pictures in the Triangle Corporation will be known as "Fine Art Films."

Much of Mr. Griffith's success is attributed to the fact that he closely watches details and is always on the lookout for new ideas. He even goes as far as to search out the locations and his Silvertown equipped Fiat is very convenient in his work.

BUICK SIX IN LONG JOURNEY

Five thousand three hundred miles from New Jersey to California, with only three punctures to count against a perfect score, a Buick Six, in which were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sibley and daughter, Maxine, and son, Ernest, arrived here the other day, once more proving that when it comes to a machine to "deliver the goods" the Buick is "there" every time. As an indication of the smooth riding qualities of the Buick under all sorts of road conditions, New Jersey air was in one of the tires when the Buick rolled into Santa Ana. The Sibleys visited with Judge E. T. Langley, who is an uncle of Mrs. Sibley.

URGES TAKING FINGER PRINTS OF SPEEDERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Old offenders, who persist in driving their cars at an unlawful rate of speed in New York, must submit to having their finger prints taken as a means of identification, if the recommendation made by Chief Magistrate McAdoo is favorably acted upon. Although the maximum fines for speeding are being imposed, the practice of fast driving continues unabated.

FULLERTON IS WINNER OF 8 LAST GAMES

FULLERTON, Dec. 2.—The Montebello base ball team will motor here Sunday and try to stop the fast local team, which has not been beaten in the last eight straight games they have played. There will be much rivalry between certain players on both teams owing to the fact that three of the Fullerton boys formerly played with the Whittier team, and six of the Montebello players were with the Whittier team at the same time. Broadbent, Trippett and Hood are the Fullerton boys who played with Whittier last year. Al McCaugh, who plays third base for the Montebello team, accompanied the Fullerton team to San Diego and played a very good game for Fullerton. Other well-known Montebello players are "Doc" Nagle, Don Haskell, E. McElroy and J. Briggs. They are out to take Fullerton's scalp and the Fullerton fans hope they will make the locals hustle.

TAG NO. 13 LOOKED ON AS TALISMAN BY SOME

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 2.—Thirteen has no terrors for Otto Starzinger of Des Moines. He has made a special request for that number from the Iowa motor department and it now adorns his machine. Starzinger says he had No. 1313 for 1915 when the car was stolen and almost immediately recovered. He said that the "13" combination was responsible for his good luck and doesn't wish to change. The new Iowa numbers are just being sent out. Will Michael, of Selma, is another Iowan not afraid of the hoodoo number. He has the promise of plate No. 1313. Plate No. 1 goes to John P. Mantary, of Fairfield, who has had the same number for several years. A. J. Graybill, of Yorkshire, gets No. 4; G. W. Beyer, of Grinnell, No. 11, and Allen E. Beck, of Mason City, No. 44, all by special request.

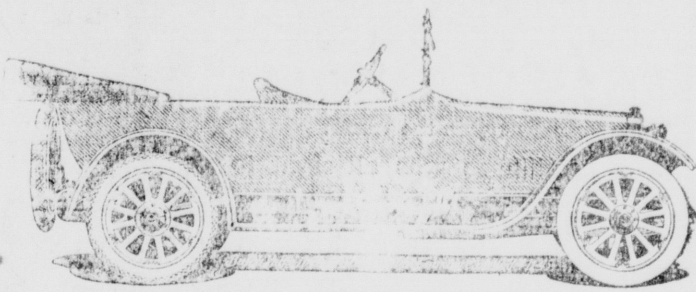

GEORGIA GAS DEALERS WILL BE PROSECUTED

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 2.—Between fifty and seventy-five retail and wholesale dealers in gasoline, located in several Georgia cities, are to be prosecuted by the state department of agriculture for violation of the state law which forbids the misbranding of gasoline as to its specific gravity. This law requires that all retailers shall post signs, showing the specific gravity, and it is understood that some of the prosecutions will be for failure to brand at all.

GERMANY MAKES MOTOR FUEL FROM POTATOES

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 2.—A report from Germany states that that country is making great use of its potatoes, of which there is a great surplus. One of the results is wood alcohol, with which motor cars are now largely driven.

The Flattery of Imitation

1916 Buick Six

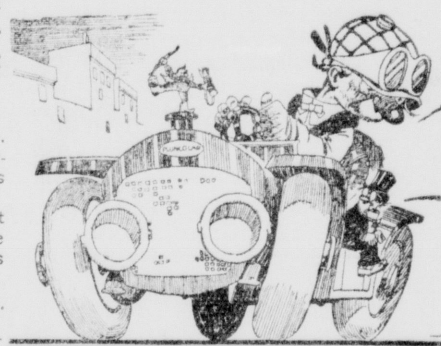

Without a doubt, imitation is the most sincere form of flattery. To have attained such value in the public eye that competition is satisfied to offer an imitation, is to succeed beyond the hopes of many.

In 1902 the first VALVE-IN-HEAD BUICK motor was produced. By its power and sturdiness it jumped into instant favor. During this, the 1916 season, the VALVE-IN-HEAD BUICK motor is still the chief feature of the BUICK line. BUICK success has brought many BUICK imitators. To attempt to equal with no ambition to exceed BUICK performance is the aim of many. Each year finds more and more manufacturers featuring the valve-in-head motor.

Without a doubt, imitation is the most sincere form of flattery.

Thank your lucky stars

if you feel that way about it when you get good service from your tires, but there is a deeper and more understandable reason.

The tire that you and every other motorist undoubtedly want most is not the result of hit or miss efforts.

Some great factory has gone to the limit in giving you the best that human ingenuity can produce, and stakes its reputation on the result.

That's how Diamond Tires are built and the great factory behind them is the largest rubber factory in the world.

The horse-shoe was all right to nail over the barn-door, but for the garage four Diamond Tires on the wheels of your car constitute the best omen of good luck we know anything about.

RETURNS HOME FROM TRIP OF 8000 MILES

F. D. Drake and Family Drove In All Kinds of Weather on All Kinds of Roads

After covering 8000 miles in many states, in all kinds of weather and on all kinds of roads, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Drake and their daughter, Helen, arrived in Santa Ana yesterday. They left Santa Ana on June 17 in their truck, and they returned after five and a half months spent in auto travel and in visiting friends and relatives in Nebraska, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Ohio. Drake was formerly a real estate man of Santa Ana.

"We are glad to get back to Santa Ana," said Drake today, "for we saw nothing that is in the same class with Southern California. We did intend to stay in Indianapolis, Ind., where my wife used to live. We rented a house for the winter, and were in it four days. The weather had been so bad that we hated to travel in it. There was a change in the weather, and, well, we got kind of homesick for Santa Ana when we thought of staying back there all winter. So we gave up the house, and on the fifth day started for California. That was three weeks ago last Tuesday."

In Pennsylvania, where Drake's father lives, the Santa Anas struck hot weather. Near Erie, Pa., they were stalled during the bad Erie flood. Returning home they struck sleet and snow in Kansas, snow in New Mexico, and a blizzard in Arizona.

"We met with no accidents," said Drake. "In fact, we were not stuck once, but we pulled out no less than ten other machines that we found stuck. We spent $134 for new tires, for we had to have ten new ones, and $80 for gasoline. I paid as high as 40 cents a gallon for gasoline in New Mexico, and as low as 8 cents in Indiana. The roads in places were frightful. We broke the rear axle three times. We averaged 135 miles a day while traveling."

"In Pennsylvania and Ohio we had a lot of bad roads. In Indiana we found the best roads we traveled over. In Kansas we found good dirt road between mudholes."

'TROUBLELESS' TAIL LIGHT IS INVENTED

J. T. McGrath, a retired railway motive power official at Bloomington, Ill., has secured letters patent upon an invention designed to do away with the rear lights on motor cars and also switch and other signal lights on railroads. He has designed a triangle box of glass and tin. On the glass is attached a circular disk of red gelatine and a few inches behind the glass he has a tin reflector. As the bright rays from the headlights of an approaching car strike the red disk with the tin reflector, the latter shows up as prominently as the red bull's-eye of the ordinary lamp. Such a device never is out of order, requires no attention when once placed in position and has other advantages, according to the inventor.

'NOSE-OUT' PARKING TRIED IN CLEVELAND

The nose-out parking plan is being tried in Superior avenue, Cleveland, O. The public safety department placed mounted police to carry out this plan at the behest of the Cleveland Automobile Club. More room for Cleveland's thousands of cars and an added degree of safety were points urged by the club's officials. Director A. A. Benesch of Cleveland's public safety department has agreed that if the scheme is successful to put it into effect in other streets sufficiently wide for the purpose.

Game Resources of California

(Second Series.)

The Ring-Necked Pheasant
By HAROLD C. BRYANT
Game Expert, Fish and Game Commission.

Some months since The Register had the good fortune to be able to present to its readers a series of articles on the Game Resources of California, written by Harold C. Bryant of the University of California, game expert of the State Fish and Game Commission. Mr. Bryant has prepared a second series, which The Register begins publishing today:

Of interest to every one are the recent attempts to establish foreign game birds in the United States. These attempts have been so well advertised that the names of ring-necked pheasant and Hungarian partridge are familiar to all. In reviewing the work accomplished along these lines it has been found that the only bird which has been successfully established anywhere in the United States is the Chinese ring-necked pheasant.

The ring-necked pheasant in the Orient is distributed from western Siberia and Mongolia to Korea and eastern China. In its native habitat it is largely a bird of the mountain districts. It is therefore remarkable that this species when transplanted to the Pacific Coast should take to the lowlands and become established there only.

The first attempts to introduce this bird on the Pacific Coast were made by Hon. O. N. Denny in 1880. All but twelve cocks and three hens of the first shipment died during transportation from Shanghai. These few birds were liberated twelve miles from Portland. The following year ten cocks and eighteen hens were liberated in the Willamette Valley. These birds increased so rapidly and became so thoroughly established in the state that twelve years later, when a shooting season of two and a half months was opened, 50,000 were reported as having been killed.

The success attained in Oregon aroused general interest throughout the United States and thousands of these pheasants have since been liberated. Some have been imported, while others have been reared on game farms and on private preserves. But in spite of continued interest in the problem of establishing this bird, the only places where the ring-necked pheasant is to be found at the present time in numbers large enough to justify an open season are in the states of Oregon and Washington.

California has spent thousands of dollars and has planted thousands of ring-necked pheasants, yet these birds are nowhere abundant enough to warrant even a short open season upon them. The places where the birds are most abundant in this state are in the vicinities of Yreka, Siskiyou county; Eureka, Humboldt county; Fortuna, Humboldt county; Cloverdale, Sonoma county; Napa, Napa county; Camels Valley, Monterey county; Snelling, Merced county, and Porterville and Lindsay, Tulare county.

Where the birds have become established they seek shelter largely in the tules and willows along streams and about the margins of lakes. They forage in the neighboring open fields, feeding upon waste grain, grass-seeds, alfalfa and also to a large extent upon insects. Great numbers of grasshoppers, certain beetles and other injurious insects are greedily devoured. It has been reported that upward of 1200 wireworms have been taken out of the crop of a ring-necked pheasant, also that two pheasants shot at the close of the shooting season had in their crop 725 wireworms, 1 acorn, 1 small, 9 berries and 3 grains of wheat.

As a game bird the pheasant ranks very high. It is highly ornamental, very well to a dog and is usually to be found in the open. Not only does it make ideal sport, but it furnishes a valuable addition to the table. This bird is in great demand by hotels and clubs for use at banquets, and the usual price paid is $2.50 per bird. Since the ring-necked pheasant is easily reared in captivity, pheasant raising can be made a profitable business. The recent breakup in trade between China and the United States because of the sale of American ships has limited the usual importation of cold storage pheasants, so that the market may be expected to improve.

The state of California has done its best to improve game conditions by establishing this foreign game bird. Thousands of ring-necked pheasants have been reared at the state game farm at Hayward and distributed to different parts of the state. Why the results have not been greater is hard to understand. One reason is apparent, and that is that in many localities where the birds have been planted people have taken so little interest in them that poachers have slowly cleaned them out. In addition, it seems probable that the state of California does not furnish as good food and cover as does Oregon, and this may be a basic reason why the ring-necked pheasant is not more numerous in California at the present time. Time alone will tell what we are to expect from the ring-necked pheasant in this state.

PRESENT YEAR MOST WEIRD EVER FOISTED UPON GASPING PUBLIC

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The football season of 1915, which was officially interred this week, will go down in gridiron history as the most weird ever foisted on a gasping public. Small colleges, from time immemorial the lawful meat of the Big Ones in the collegiate world, turned with a vengeance that makes the well known worm look like the Rock of Gibraltar. With the exception of Cornell and Pittsburgh, by now acknowledged peers of the eastern division, not an eastern team went through the season with a clean record. Starting with the Yale defeat by Virginia on October 2, the season was one long-drawn put and of unexpected upsets.

Slap at the Blue
W. and J. followed the Southerners and took a slap at the Blue. Then came Colgate with the same tale, and lastly little Brown, which had been licked by Syracuse and tied by Trinity, took a parting kick at the bewildered Bulldog.

Cornell loped into Cambridge and went out with the scalp of Percy Houghton—the first time a Harvard team had been defeated in three years. Princeton, with the best Tiger eleven of a decade, was defeated four times by the Yale aggregation.

The Army and Navy passed into the second division of football institutions by being licked by numerous small colleges. Lafayette came along and whipped Pennsylvania.

Disastrous Year
Out in the west, old Fielding H. Vest has completed the most disastrous year of his long connection with the Wolverine institution. Michigan's Aggies, Syracuse, Cornell—all took a whack at the heretofore feared Yost machine.

In view of these events, football fanatics from coast to coast are waiting for the annual pun—an All-American eleven—with more than usual curiosity. The Michigan Aggies defeated Michigan. The Aggies were in turn licked by the Oregon Aggies, and in their turn were whipped by Washington State.

Hard to See
Just how the experts, and particularly Walter Yale Camp, are going to select an eleven which represents America, is pretty hard to see. One man, or a dozen men, could not in a season view all the college teams in these United States. Washington State, the Oregon Aggies and the Michigan Aggies certainly are to be considered.

The year has been the most weird in history. It's possible to pick an all-eastern team, an all-conference team in the middle west, and an all-western team for the coast contenders, but an all-American team is not only impossible, but ludicrous. And this year wouldn't be a bad one to witness the burial of this annual joke.

Arrangements For Semi-Finals Between Whittier and San Diego Made

That the Santa Ana Polytechnic High School gridiron will be the scene of the semi-final game between San Diego and Whittier High Schools was definitely decided this morning. Pasadena will play the winner of Saturday's game and the winner of that game will then be the Southern California interscholastic championship team.

There will be two games on the football menu here Saturday, the second team of the local high school being scheduled to meet the Manual Arts (Los Angeles) team in a curtain raiser to the Whittier-San Diego fracas. So there will be plenty to interest the fans.

One of the biggest crowds of the season is expected to be on hand to see Saturday's semi-final championship game here Saturday.

The local first team is just about through with football for this season. There is practically no likelihood of the team playing another game.

Basketball is beginning to occupy the center of the stage at Poly. Yesterday afternoon the basketballers got into action for the first time. The first game will be played at Anaheim a week from Monday.

Inter-class football games are scheduled to begin tomorrow afternoon at Poly.

SOUTHERN STATES ARE BUYING MANY FORDS

In spite of the fact that the European war cut off the principal market for the southern staple and bread winner—the cotton crop—people there have money enough to buy automobiles.

This fact is demonstrated because the demand for Ford cars in southern states is greater than it has ever been and dealers down in that section are begging for more cars. With thousands of Fords being disposed of as fast as they arrive below the M. & D. line it is apparent that southern people, no matter what happens to the cotton crop, always have enough money for a standard utility.

MILITARY TRUCKS IN DEMAND IN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—Recommendations made this year by department commanders and quarter-masters indicate that there is a growing desire to obtain additional motor trucks as a means of transportation for military supplies at army posts and in the field.

The quartermaster of the Hawaiian department has made a special report on transportation in the Hawaiian Islands and has recommended that motor truck transportation be substituted, in part, for mule and escort wagon transportation and that one 6-ton truck for general hauling and one 3½-ton truck with dump body for coal be supplied to the quartermaster depot at Honolulu, in addition to the three 1½-ton trucks now on hand there.

THE annual football game of Harvard and Yale, which is considered the biggest gridiron event of the year, was a spectacular game, but it proved that the Blue was no match for the Crimson. The Harvard stadium was filled, and one of the largest audiences that ever saw an athletic event in the United States witnessed Yale's defeat by the crushing score of 41 to 0.

LOW TIDES WILL LURE HUNTERS
OF ABALONES

Announcements that the lowest tides of the year will be found along the Orange county coast beginning Sunday are sending shivers of joy down the spines of those venturesome hunters who delight in going out after abalones and mussels.

At 2:42 o'clock Sunday afternoon the tide will be minus 1 foot 3; at 3:29 o'clock Monday afternoon and at 4:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon it will be minus 1 foot 6, the lowest tides of the year, according to data given out by Victor Walker, the local sporting goods dealer.

Those who do not mind taking risks and exposing themselves to duckings get a great deal of pleasure out of hunting abalones and mussels. Besides, the shell fish are extremely succulent as articles of food, according to the epicures.

MAXWELL PLANTS WILL INCREASE PRODUCTION

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 2.—At all the Maxwell plants, including Detroit, Newcasttle, Ind., and Dayton, O., extensive enlargement and expansion work has been started, the Maxwell Motor Company contemplating increasing its daily production, which now averages 250 cars or better to 500.

The biggest addition is being built at the Oakland avenue plant in Detroit, which will consist of a one-story building, 860 by 130 feet, to be devoted exclusively to assembly purposes. This structure will cover about four acres of ground. The Maxwell Company owns 50 acres of ground on Oakland avenue and 12 acres are covered with buildings.

TACOMA SPEED PLANT IS PAYING DIVIDENDS

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 2.—The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Tacoma Speedway Association was held a few weeks ago. A report covering the year's business was read, showing a gross profit of more than $7,000, out of which has been paid the guaranteed interest on stock. According to Manager George Dunn, the Tacoma speedway is in better financial condition than any other large speedway in the country. The track is still in good shape, the heavy winter rains, thus far, not having damaged it to any extent, and very little work will have to be done to place it in prime condition for next year.

WILMINGTON IS DOWN ON STREET PARKING

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 2.—Because hundreds of motor car owners insist upon making a regular practice of parking their cars, day and night, on the main business streets, the street and sewer department, which has control of the streets, has ordered 100 "No Parking" signs which will place wherever the nuisance has become intolerable, and the police department will see that the signs are respected by local motorists.

SKIPPER USES GLASS
ON MOTOR CRAFT AS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—With binoculars, Captain Jack Henry, retired skipper, who lives in the wilderness of Las Flores Canyon, in the Santa Monica mountains, makes out the license numbers on automobiles miles away, looks up the owner's name and address in his state license book and mystifies the stranger when he drives up by greeting him by name.

DAMAGE CLAIM PADDED
MILWAUKEE MAN FINED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 2.—A case of national importance, and the first of this nature ever brought in the middle west, was ended in the United States district court at Milwaukee recently, when the Wisconsin Auto Sales Company and Orton C. Collins were found guilty of padding a damage claim against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company and fined $500 and $200, respectively. The prosecution was under the interstate commerce law protecting railroads against fraud. The company and Collins were charged with presenting a claim of $115 for damages alleged to have been sustained on a motor car body while in transit, when the actual cost of repairing the damage was less than $20. The case against the Wisconsin company and Collins was considered of such importance by the department of justice that A. H. Elder, attorney for the interstate commerce commission, was sent to Milwaukee to assist in the prosecution.

FORD CARS MAKE HIT
WITH MANUFACTURERS

Each month's sales-reports show an enormous increase in the use of Ford cars by the large manufacturing and distributing houses of the country. Their utility for "salesman's equipment" is becoming more firmly and generally established as an economic principle. The Ford-cost of less than two cents per mile is in itself a convincing argument. In the last few months 598 Fords have been sold in Seattle. Of these, 240 Fords, or about 40 per cent of the total number sold, were bought for merely commercial purposes.

BARNEY ASSESSED FOR
$250 BY THREE A's

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—At the regular meeting of the codified board of the American Automobile Association, held here recently, Barney Oldfield, veteran driver, was fined $250, for driving a demonstration performance in his car on a track at Wichita, Kan., where an outlaw racing meet was being held. Oldfield was advertised as a co-attraction with outlaw drivers but did not drive in competition. This is the second time where the fine penalty has been imposed on drivers and companies for infraction of rules during the last year.

QUAKER CITY USING
TRUCKS FOR U. S. MAIL

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 2.—The morning the Philadelphia post-office withdrew the six trolley cars now in service as mail carriers and distributed and substituted therefor fifteen motor trucks. Ten of the trucks will be in continuous service and five held in reserve for emergency.

BUILDING 'K-O'
TO ORDER FOR
MR. WILLARD

(United Press Correspondence.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Gotham fight experts are pinning their faith on Fred Fulton as a heavy who, in a year or so will be the man to take the scrap halo from the Kansas who took it from Johnson. Fulton couldn't do it now, his backers admit, but they figure him a strong comer and the only man who shows promise of being able to give Willard anything like a fight.

Sort of growing them to order to put the cowboy out of business, isn't it?

They say it may be months before Fulton shows anything like speed, but unlike others of his weight who are anxious to mix with Jess, he is still young and capable of development. He is said to have a kay oh punch that is a wonder, his record of knock-outs, although the victims were lesser lights, is as long as his arm, and he is built along the same broad, ample, symmetrical lines as is the Kansas giant.

For these reasons in particular, Promoter Tommy Burns has not been overly anxious to go through the proposed Willard-Fulton bout at this time. Tommy wants Fulton to have plenty of deadly development. Right now, he admits, the boy would be an easy mark.

Fulton's only defeats were by Carl Morris and Al Palzar. In both these bouts he hammered his opponents all over the ring in the early rounds, but let his seconds scare him into taking the count when he might have gotten up again and kept on fighting. At least, that's what they say—they being Fulton fans.

SENTENCES MOTORIST
TO WALK ONE MONTH

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 2.—Judge Austin, in police court the other day, sounded a warning to motor car drivers not to operate machines while under the influence of liquor. C. T. Sawyer was charged with driving his car while intoxicated.

Sawyer pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve two months in the county jail. The sentence, except the costs, was suspended, after Sawyer had promised that he would not drive or ride in a motor car in Toledo for 30 days.

"If you break your promise and I find it out," said Austin to Sawyer, "the jail sentence against you will be enforced. There is sometimes an excuse for a chauffeur who exceeds the speed limit, but I have no sympathy for any person who drives a car while drunk."

3 MILLION FOR KING COUNTY, WASH., ROADS

Three million dollars will be spent in King county, Washington, for road construction and maintenance during 1916, according to figures compiled by the board of county commissioners. Practically all of the total of $3,018,988 will be expended outside corporate limits of cities, which covers an area of 2,981 square miles. This is the most ambitious road building program ever outlined by any county in the Pacific Northwest.

QUADS HAUL GUNS
TAKEN BY FRENCH

PARIS, Oct. 16.—(By Mail.)—America has received a little of the reflected glory of the French victory in the Champagne district. It was decided to bring the guns captured from the Germans in the big attack to the north of Chalons to the court yard of the Invalides, in Paris, for public exhibition. The trophies were brought to the suburbs of Paris on special trains. At this point Jeffery Quads were sent to take the German guns in tow and bring them to the historic French museum. It was thus aboard or at the tail of an American truck that the Kaiser's artillery came into Paris. The Jefferies shifted thirty-nine cannons of 77 millimeters, one of 150 millimeters, one of 105 millimeters, sixteen bomb throwers of 105 millimeters, four bomb throwers of 150 millimeters, an 88 millimeter cannon, a 37 millimeter cannon, five 150 millimeter mortars, one powerful searchlight, and quantities of quick-firing guns and minenwerfer. Most of the guns were in fairly good condition and could be towed. Much broken material was brought inside the tractors. On the first day 100,000 people visited the captured guns.
